First Picture of an Atom Bomb

U.S. HELPS REBELS

Laos Wants Aid Halted

VIENTIANE (Reuters) — The neutralist government of Laos was reported today considering an appeal to the United Nations to halt American aid to right-wing rebels in the three-cornered struggle for power in this strategic Indo-Chinese kingdom.

The neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, today summoned Dr. Edouard Zellweger, the UN representative in Laos, and reliable sources reported that Souvanna raised the possibility of a direct appeal to the United Nations.

Vientiane Radio charged today that right-wing troops now are equipped with modern weapons which did not exist in Laos before the civil war erupted almost four months ago.

The possibility of an appeal to the United Nations was raised as the government tottered under the pressure of left-wing extremists and a cut-off of American aid.

TO RESIGN?

Sources close to Prince Souvanna Phouma said the Laotian premier may eventually be forced to resign. They forecast a full-scale civil war between Communist and right-wing troops if he steps down.

Left-wing pressure on the government has been mounting steadily, aimed at blocking any negotiations between Souvanna and the right-wing forces of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan. The leftists succeeded last week in preventing National Assembly approval for a coalition government that would include some of Phoumi's supporters.

Meanwhile, Souvanna's government was faced with a desperate shortage of money because of the cut-off of American aid. National Bank officials said no American aid had been paid into the treasury for October and November. American aid usually totals $1,500,000 a month.

TWO NEGROES ELECTED

TORONTO (CP)—Leonard A. Brathwaite, first Negro ever to run for election in suburban Etobicoke, won a seat on the township's board of education Monday with a big majority over the nearest contender. Mr. Brathwaite, 38, is a lawyer.

In Windsor, Dr. Roy Perry, a Negro dentist defeated in the 1958 mayoralty race after serving seven years as an alderman and two years on the board of control, was returned as an alderman. (See also Page 19.)

Segregation Mob Taunts Alta. Woman

NEW ORLEANS (CP)—An assistant professor of English from the University of Alberta was taunted by women boycotting an integrated school here today.

The trouble broke out when Brigitta Steene, a native of Sweden, arrived at William Frantz School.

When questioned by women demonstrators, she was reported to have said she saw nothing wrong with interracial marriages.

"We'll get you a Nigger to marry," one woman yelled.

Police escorted Miss Steene from the demonstrators.

One threw a hard-boiled egg at her and hit a reporter on the back.

Miss Steene was quoted as saying she had gone to see the integration boycott out of curiosity.

Meanwhile 23 white children went to classes in integrated William Frantz School, spared the worst of the usual jeers from pickets because police cleared a one-block area around the building.

While the gap in the segregation boycott widened, New Orleans legislators prepared to ask the Orleans parish county school board to resign, the New Orleans States-Item reported.

Arts Council Needs Money

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada Council said today lack of funds is progressively limiting its ability to help worthy students and national cultural organizations.

In a brief submitted to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the council asked for immediate government action to boost its endowment fund income from $2,900,000 a year to $3,400,000.

'Baby Budget' Due on Dec. 20

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's supplementary budget for the current fiscal year will be presented Tuesday, Dec. 20, Finance Minister Fleming announced today in the Commons.

The pre-Christmas baby budget—the main one for the year was presented last March 31—was forecast in the Speech from the throne at the opening of the current session Nov. 17.

The last time such a baby budget was presented was in December of 1957 after the Progressive Conservatives took office in June of that year, when social security payments were boosted and taxes cut by a total $176,000,000 a year in a program aimed at offsetting an economic slump.

In his March budget for the fiscal year ending next March 31, Mr. Fleming forecast a $12,000,000 surplus. Since then the general expectation has been that Mr. Fleming's budget will go into the red, since the forecast of a six-per-cent increase in the gross national product—on which last spring's budget was based—has not materialized.

RECESS ON DEC. 21

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said the Commons could adjourn for its Christmas recess after its sitting on Wednesday, Dec. 21.

Opposition Leader Pearson said, however, that in view of the unemployment situation there should be an opportunity to debate the budget before Christmas.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Wednesday sitting could be made a morning, afternoon and night sitting to discuss the fiscal proposals.

Paul Hellyer (L., Toronto Trinity) asked when the House would resume its meetings after Jan. 1. Mr. Diefenbaker said that would be announced before the House rises for Christmas.

Mr. Hellyer, who is chairman of preparations for the national Liberal rally here Jan. 9-11, said members of parliament need the information now to make reservations.

West England Town Cut Off By Floods

LONDON (Reuters) — Surging floods cut off an English town of nearly 5,000 inhabitants today as Western Europe found normally placid rivers turned into rampaging torrents after days of storms.

Police said the situation was "serious" in Monmouth in western England where the rivers Monnow and Wye spilled over their banks during the night, surrounding the town with water.

Hundreds of families were evacuated from their homes in hastily-commandeered craft.

Other parts of Britain were cleaning up in the wake of the most widespread flooding in history.

Across the North Sea in the Netherlands, Dutchmen frantically built up sandbag dikes to check the flooding river Mark in the southwest of the low-lying country.

Four Dutch provinces reported houses and farmland under water.

UN Row Boils On Treatment Of Lumumba

Reds Lose On Demand For Meet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin failed today in his efforts to call an emergency night session of the Security Council on The Congo. Western delegates had denounced the move by Zorin, the council president, as arbitrary.

The UN announced: "There will be no Security Council meeting tonight."

Western members said they had not been consulted by Zorin, and charged him with abusing his powers as president.

Zorin handed the request for the meeting to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold in an attempt to get a full council discussion immediately of the arrest and detention of deposed Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba.

MEMBERS POLLED

Hammarskjold polled members of the 11-nation council and apparently did not find support for a night meeting.

Zorin circulated at UN headquarters a declaration demanding the immediate release of Lumumba, the disarming of the army directed by strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu and the expulsion of all Belgian civilian and military personnel in the Congo.

Meanwhile, the United Arab Republic became the third member of the UN Congo conciliation commission to withdraw amid growing doubt that the Asian-African group would ever get to Leopoldville.

The Soviet delegation opened the way for a Congo debate Friday when it called on Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to report at once to the General Assembly on what is being done to help the imprisoned Lumumba.

Hammarskjold sent a letter to Congo President Joseph Kasavubu Monday asking that the International Red Cross be permitted to examine Lumumba to make sure he had not been mistreated by Mobutu's men. He said Lumumba's seizure had raised general fears for his safety.

TREATMENT "INHUMANE"

Rajeshwar Dayal of India, Hammarskjold's special representative in The Congo, reported Lumumba was suffering from serious injuries and was being held under inhumane conditions.

The secretary-general said he hopes Lumumba will be given his full rights under the law, if he is prosecuted, and that he will be permitted to retain counsel of his own choice.

Meanwhile, Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu served notice United Nations officials will "never" visit deposed premier Patrice Lumumba in jail at Thysville military camp.

At the same time, Mobutu admitted that Lumumba had been roughed up by his troops —"What do you expect?"

Mobutu, talking to reporters while perched on a car outside the camp, scoffed at the concern for Lumumba expressed by UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

WHITE HOUSE MEET

Kennedy Briefed By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-Elect Kennedy and President Eisenhower joined in a declaration today that the United States will "continue to seek peace with justice in freedom for all peoples" as its world objective.

The Republican president and Democratic president-elect said in a joint statement that they had discussed "major problems of peace, security and freedom throughout the world" in a White House conference lasting more than three hours today.

The two men, who had uncomplimentary things to say about each other's policies in the presidential campaign, had what Kennedy personally described as a "cordial" meeting.

Kennedy was greeted by a military display and was met by Eisenhower at the doorstep when he arrived at the White House at 9 a.m. for a conference on the problems involved in the forthcoming change of administration.

For almost two hours the two men talked alone in Eisenhower's office. Then they met with Secretary of State Christian Herter, Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson, and Secretary of Defence Thomas Gates.

The statement issued after the meeting said Eisenhower and Kennedy talked over the American balance of payments and the position of the American dollar. Secretary Anderson recently has been attempting to reduce the foreign drain on American dollars and Eisenhower has acted to cut some outlays in the military field.

Kennedy told reporters he and Eisenhower discussed the transition of government as well as some of the problems the U.S. faces.

He said Eisenhower told him he would be glad to be of service to the country at any time in the future when he felt he was needed.

Second Meeting Offered if Needed

Kennedy said Eisenhower gave him his views on a number of problems facing the U.S., and volunteered to have another meeting if Kennedy wants it.

In response to Eisenhower's invitation the 43-year-old senator — youngest man ever elected to the presidency — came to the White House at 9 a.m.

The 70-year-old president, oldest man ever to serve in the office, was waiting on the steps to greet him.

Eisenhower beamed. As Kennedy walked up the steps Eisenhower told him, "I'd have come down there but the photographers wouldn't let me do it."

Eisenhower and Kennedy shook hands twice—the second time for the benefit of photographers, and Kennedy told the president: "It's good to be here."

There were more television cameras in sight than veteran reporters ever could remember at the White House.

'CHILDREN OF INDIA'

'Shantas' Look to You

Will you save a place at your Christmas table for nine-year-old Shanta?

Until she stepped over the welcoming threshold of a Unitarian Service Committee home in India a few weeks ago, she was leading her blind father in the streets to beg.

She had never seen a comb, or had a soothing bath to heal the scabies which covered her body.

Never once had she eaten enough at one time to forget the pangs of hunger.

But today she's a good-looking and slightly giggly girl—like most her age—and would be an asset to any group.

There are thousands like Shanta was before she received USC help. These are the children you are asked to sit, at least theoretically, at your table this Christmas.

This can be done by practical contributions to the Times-sponsored Children of India Fund.

There is not much time left to make this warm-hearted gesture in time for Christmas.

And it will be a gesture that lasts the year round.

Contributions by cheque or cash can be sent or brought to the Times offices at either 1215 Broad Street or 2631 Douglas Street. Such contributions come off income tax.

PARIS—Despite massive doses of perfume, most Paris subway stations still smell like a football team's locker room at halftime.

City officials, fearing shoppers were using other transportation because of the odor, tried wafting the essence of some of Paris' famed perfume through miles of underground tubes.

That didn't help, so this week four subway lines are spraying the odor of violets along the tracks while another is trying to make passengers believe they are sniffing the refreshing odor of a pine forest.

SHREWSBURY, Eng. — Floodwaters of the river Severn have put several front rows of a movie theatre here under water, but the show went on.

BERLIN — Christian Melzig wrote a letter to the Communist youth newspaper Young World recently to complain about a radio he purchased from the state-owned factory at Halle.

He promptly received a letter from the factory's service department which stated: "We urgently request you to be a little more careful with that type of press complaint. It could have very uncomfortable results for you."

The letter closed with a greeting for "unity, peace and socialism."

BELLINGHAM — A pretty girl snipped a red ribbon, appropriate remarks were made and then cars began zipping along a new $5 million, five-mile freeway Monday.

The only thing that marred the ceremonies was the absence of Governor Albert D. Rosellini and Ernest Ketcham, chairman of the State Highway Commission.

The two state officials became fogbound in Seattle.

The four-lane freeway, a section of U.S. Highway 99, bypasses Bellingham to the east.

DALLAS, Tex.—It may have been a lot of bull and then again it may have been a lot of little bulls.

"I . . . I want to report a bunch of livestock running loose in my back yard," a woman, somewhat breathlessly, reported to police Monday.

"What kind of livestock are they, lady?" Dispatcher B. D. Densmore asked.

The woman paused . . . then giggled. "Little bulls I think," she said, and hung up before Densmore could get her address.

LONDON—Railroad enthusiasts who took over a small line abandoned as unprofitable by the state-owned British Railways have announced a profit during the line's first three months of private operation.

The shareholders who now own the four and one-half mile "Bluebell Line" between Sheffield Park and Horsted Keynes in Sussex, were told that between August and October the line had shown a credit balance of £1,539.

The line has bought two engines and coaches from British Railways.

Even the new owners, however, admit the line cannot always pay. They have closed it for the winter and plan to reopen in April 30.

Personal Flag to Fly For Queen

LONDON (AP)—The Queen has adopted a new personal flag in blue and gold.

The flag was the Queen's idea, a spokesman said. It was the first time as far as he knew that a British monarch had chosen to fly a strictly personal standard.

"The new flag," the palace spokesman said, "will in no way supplant the Royal Standard."

It will signify the Queen's titular leadership of the Commonwealth.

DRIVER HAD NO LICENCE

EDMONTON (CP) — The driver of the Lamont school bus crushed a week ago by a freight train with a loss of 17 lives did not have a bus-driving licence, Highways Minister Gordon Taylor said Monday.

He said that Frank Budney, 31-year-old father of five children, held a Class D licence which permitted him to drive only passenger cars and light trucks.

Under Alberta law only holders of a Class A licence are permitted to drive buses and school buses. Most private motorists hold a Class D licence.

Budney, injured along with 23 students, was reported by Lamont hospital officials to have regained consciousness Monday. He suffered head injuries.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Metro Urged to Cure Urban Blight

(Compiled from CP)

VANCOUVER — The city planning director for Portland, Ore., said here Monday that metropolitan government is the best way to combat blight of urban residential areas.

Lloyd T. Keefe told a Vancouver housing conference that as city homes deteriorate the owners drift away to newer and more attractive suburbs.

He said city tax values go down and the new occupants of old homes just wait their chance to move out. They can't be persuaded to improve the property, he said.

Metro government, said Mr. Keefe, means fairer sharing of taxes and of the services they provide. It doesn't simply mean the smaller surrounding municipalities are subsidizing city slum clearance—it is a two-way street. The suburbs gain in the provision of other public services such as parks and sewers.

Deputy provincial secretary Laurie Wallace indicated a survey may be started shortly of all housing needs for elderly persons in B.C.

The provincial government's aid program to legitimate public groups building low rental homes has grown to the point where a detailed study is needed, he said.

"No one really knows how many elderly people want accommodation."

NOT 'PLAYING DEAD'

VANCOUVER—A four-year-old boy who liked to play "dead" stumbled near his suburban Richmond home Monday and suffered a fatal brain injury as a stick passed through his eye and pierced his brain.

Daniel Brown died in hospital several hours after he was found bleeding in a field near his home.

The boy, only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Brown, had been playing with a five-year-old companion, Colleen Lamb. When Mrs. Lamb saw her daughter playing alone, she asked where Daniel was.

"She said he was playing dead," said Mrs. Lamb.

STROLL RESUMED

VANCOUVER—The Honorable H. H. Stevens, who missed his annual walk around Stanley Park last year for the first time in 26 years, because of illness is planning a comeback Thursday, his 82nd birthday.

One thing has changed. Instead of taking 90 minutes for the seven-mile walk. This time he's figuring on two hours.

4 HELD IN BURGLARIES

VERNON — RCMP arrested four persons Monday in connection with a series of burglaries in Vernon and Armstrong during the weekend. Three men were picked up in Armstrong and one in Vernon.

The arrests followed break-ins and theft of a large sum of money from the Imperial Oil Company bulk plant here. A tanker truck was used to batter down the gates. The truck later was found wrecked.

TEACHER PAY STANDS

KAMLOOPS. — "Hold-the-line" recommendations have been made by two arbitration boards on teacher salary disputes in this area. They are the first two arbitration awards in the teacher salary disputes in B.C.

Arbitration boards in Kamloops and the adjacent Barriere school district recommended that 1961 contracts be the same as those of 1960.

Cadboro Bay Breakwater Studied by Chamber Group

A proposal that a breakwater be built across the mouth of Cadboro Bay, to provide a year-round shelter from storms for all types of vessels, will be the subject of a continuing study by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce harbor and transport group.

The suggestion was placed before a meeting of the group Monday noon by Tom Denny who said he envisioned a stone breakwater which would go across the middle of the bay and be left open at both ends for boat passage and to avoid any foreshore complications. Mr. Denny saw considerable commercial benefits from the breakwater as well as the provision of a haven for craft caught out in a southeast gale.

It would enhance the proposed Saanich waterfront park area and could lead to the building of a marina in Cadboro Bay which would attract more pleasure craft to the area for winter anchorage. Mr. Denny stressed that the protected water should not be allowed to become a boom storage area but could be used as a transient shelter spot.

One objection raised at the meeting was that a breakwater might interfere with yacht club operations. But it was pointed out that there would be plenty of room inside for racing small craft and that the breakwater being low there would be no interference with the wind. Larger craft could sail through the breakwater entrances for racing.

The meeting agreed that the proposal should be studied and, initially, inquiries should be made as to what surveys and plans might already have been undertaken by either provincial or federal governments on a similar project.

The group also endorsed a suggestion from the B.C. Electric Company that consideration should also be given to construction of a breakwater at Port Renfrew, since it was a development that would benefit all of southern Vancouver Island. It was pointed out that a protected anchorage was badly needed at that point for the fishing fleet and the boats of the Noranda mining operations.

The group agreed to make inquiries regarding a Port Renfrew breakwater as well as the prospect of a public highway to the port.

A motion was passed by the group that the chamber's board of directors should press for improvement of traffic capacity of the Pat Bay Highway to the equivalent of four lanes. It was felt that since the harbor and transport group had sparked the action which led to the provincial ferry service being started, it should follow up on the matter of an improved highway.

CANADIANS TOO IMITATIVE

TORRANCE, Ont. (CP)—Canadians bear the mark of a second-rate, backwoods society by being completely imitative, the former head of the history department at Queen's University said Saturday.

PROF. A. M. LOWER
. . . Toronto is backwoods

Prof. A. M. Lower was addressing the first Metropolitan Toronto Young Adult Conference, meeting for three days at this resort 75 miles north of Toronto.

Prof. Lower added that Toronto is a backwoods city, and that Canadian identity is being swamped by materialism and slavish imitation of the United States.

Mental Illness Survey Approved; B.C. Praised

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—The Commons Monday took a look at the plight and problems of the mentally ill in Canada and British Columbia's Crease Clinic came in for praise from a Vancouver member.

Speaking on a resolution by Alan Macnaughton (L-Montreal Mount Royal), calling for a national survey into mental illness which was adopted by the House, Harold Winch (CCF-Vancouver East) said it was a most commendable move.

He said the B.C. clinic admits mentally ill for a four-month period before they are committed to institutions. There had been 1,492 admissions last year and 1,411 had been discharged.

A former member of the B.C. legislature, Mr. Winch said it had been learned in the 1930s that no elected representatives bothered to visit mental institutions, and investigations disclosed that many patients had been forgotten there even after they could have been released if anyone had been available or prepared to sign them out.

Many, including doctors, had told Mr. Winch and his colleagues they were crazy to worry about getting people out of mental homes as well as getting them in. But a house had been purchased and mental authorities were asked whether they had any women who were cured who could leave.

"How many do you want?" they had been asked, and the private institution had entered rehabilitation work which saved many a tax dollar and returned to normal life scores of forgotten human beings.

Referring to an estimate of the cost of a survey, cited earlier by Dr. R. P. Vivian, former Ontario health minister who now represents Durham in the House, as being too high Mr. Winch said:

"Any money spent now is a good investment for the prevention of spending a lot more money in the future," he cited B.C. statistics to show the increase in admissions to mental institutions—2,993 last year compared with 1,260 10 years earlier.

At the end of 1959 there were nearly 10,000 such patients at a maintenance cost of $12,453,000 a year.

Presenting his resolution Mr. Macnaughton said:

"The time has come when Canada, on the initiative of the federal government, must take an inventory of the mental health program, of the state of its mental services, and examine all matters and legislation related to mental health and illness with a view of charting our course for the next 10 years.

"If we fail to act, it will be a sorry commentary upon us and upon the society in which we live."

Disease 'Bewilders Almost Everyone'

Mr. Macnaughton called mental sickness a disease "that bewilders almost everyone."

The latest figures—for 1958—show that 47 of every 100 patients in hospital in Canada were in for psychiatric treatment. More than 75,000 Canadians were in psychiatric hospitals or training schools for mental deficiencies. In addition, there are more than 200,000 alcoholics, 3,000 drug addicts and each year about 1,800 people commit suicide.

He charged that the federal government is spending too little and spreading it too far, putting up some $54,500,000 a year to support mental hospitals, help develop new approaches to the treatment of mentally ill people, train personnel and foster research.

Health Minister Monteith said he accepted the principle of the resolution, but he added that much more examination must be given such a project before it could actually be undertaken.

It was the first time in at least seven years that a private member's resolution has got through the Commons.

Generally, such resolutions are "talked out" or adjourned, thus shunting them to the tail-end of the order paper, with little chance of being debated again.

George C. Fairfield (PC—Portage-Neepawa), a Manitoba medical doctor, said the Macnaughton resolution should be supported on every side of the Commons.

The atomic bomb and international situation often were blamed for today's mental health picture, he said, but heredity plays a part. His own view tended to be that it was inability today to cope with stresses—rather than the stresses themselves—that was at fault.

'FIGHT FOR PEACE'

Reds Unite Behind Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP)—The world Communist movement publicly closed ranks today to support Soviet Premier Khrushchev's thesis that Communism can triumph without nuclear war. Khrushchev thus won a victory at last month's Communist summit meeting.

Communist China joined 80 other Communist parties in issuing a manifesto that seemed to make clear Khrushchev and his line of peaceful co-existence retain control of Communism's direction—at least for the present.

"War is not fatally inevitable," said a declaration spread across three and one-half pages in Pravda. "The Communist parties regard the fight for peace as their prime task."

This is what Khrushchev has insisted on since the 20th Soviet Communist party congress in 1956 which has won later endorsements from the Communist movement.

'WIN BY EXAMPLE'

Communist China has held that war with the capitalist world is inevitable. This was the major difference with the Kremlin in the larger question of how the Communists should advance their cause—by a belligerent posture toward the West and encouragement of violent revolution, or by negotiation with the capitalists while Communism takes over gradually.

Communism, said the manifesto, is bound to win in peace "by the force of its example."

It warned that "war is a constant companion of capitalism," but said "real forces have appeared that are capable of foiling its plans of aggression."

The manifesto said:

"Today in a number of capitalist countries the working class, headed by its vanguard the Communist party, has the opportunity to unite a majority of the people, win state power without civil war and ensure the transfer of the basic means of production to the hands of the people."

SEE NEW TALKS

Newspapers in London saw the manifesto as a Communist go-ahead for Khrushchev to pursue new negotiations with the West after the failure of the May summit meeting.

The London Daily Mirror said "Khrushchev now has the go-ahead for new negotiations with the West."

In The Daily Herald, a left-wing Labor member of Parliament, Michael Foot, said the result of the Moscow meeting "means new hope for peace."

Some Western observers still were skeptical that Peking and Moscow have entirely patched up their differences.

CANADIAN FORCES TO AID REFUGEES

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Some 800 Canadian UNEF soldiers are preparing a mammoth Christmas gift for Palestine refugees in the vicinity of their camp at Rafah, a cable from Gaza reported Monday.

Construction of an 18-bed maternity hospital and a baby clinic capable of handling 300 cases a day, will be under way before Dec. 25.

When the UNEF committee organizing the annual Christmas gift to the refugees met, the Canadian contingent requested this as a special contribution.

Col. H. T. Fosbery, the Canadian commander, said his contingent had expressed the wish to do "something tangible" for the refugees which would be "a permanent memorial of our service over here."

The Canadian gift followed visits made to the camps of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency by Canadian soldiers who found that in the refugee camps at Khan Yunis, five miles from Rafah, no facilities of this kind existed since a clinic had been closed because of an outbreak of infant tetanus.

No replacement funds were available and UNRWA officials and doctors enthusiastically accepted the Canadian offer after Fosbery held a meeting of all ranks which unanimously endorsed the project.

R. L. Fisher, UNRWA director in the Gaza area, described the gift as "a material advance which will do untold good over the years. We are in desperate need of this hospital."

U.S. ORDERS RECIPIENT NATIONS:

'Spend More With Us'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government Monday ordered nations receiving United States aid to stop spending those dollars in Canada, 17 other countries and the British colony of Hong Kong which the U.S. considers in strong economic shape.

The move by State Secretary Christian Herter was viewed as an effort to get recipient nations to spend more money in the U.S.

Herter's order to the International Co-operation Administration grows out of President Eisenhower's campaign to stem the drain of dollars and gold abroad.

The 18 nations affected are Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Luxembourg, Monaco, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, South Africa, Sweden, Switzerland and United Kingdom. Hong Kong was also on the list.

In all, recipient nations spent $867,300,000 last fiscal year on procurement. Of this amount, $360,700,000 was spent in the U.S. The rest was used to buy commodities elsewhere.

More than $400,000,000 was spent in the countries affected by Herter's order.

5,000,000 U.S. Jobless Total Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor department officials have indicated they expect the United States unemployment total to climb to more than 5,000,000 by January.

They also have indicated the total for November, to be announced later this week, probably reached 4,000,000, highest figure for the month in 20 years.

The department, in a survey released today, said most employers expect a net decrease in job levels by mid-January.

The survey shows that increased unemployment in the autumn months is expected to continue on into the winter.

The survey made by the labor department's employment security bureau is a regular one covering 150 major production and employment centres. The November figures show nine more areas were added to the critical list, those having more than six per cent unemployment.

This shoved the number of such areas to 51 as compared with a total of 32 in November, 1959, and 82 in November, 1958, during the recession.

The 11-member committee named by President-elect John Kennedy Sunday to map a program of aid to areas of chronic unemployment was called together for its first meeting today.

Hitting at Car Sales

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT'S first major move into higher tariff protection will now be put to the test. Though they are ingeniously devised as an administrative and taxation device and ostensibly do not touch the tariff, the new restrictions on automobile imports are nothing but a tariff under another name. Their sole purpose is to raise the price of imported cars, mainly British, and encourage the sale of Canadian cars instead.

The actual effect of this policy, if it works, will be to raise the price of all cars and the cost of living, since a car is a virtual necessity in the Canadian home. But we doubt that the policy will work at all as intended. The Victoria Chamber of Commerce, we believe, is quite right in regarding the government's intervention in the automobile business as plain folly.

Certainly Canada has delivered a hard blow against the British automobile industry, and a British economy now entering a period of grave strain. Doubtless Canada will import fewer British (and European) cars than in the past, thus worsening Britain's present trade deficit in the Canadian market.

Will such measures really benefit the Canadian automobile industry on balance? This is highly doubtful. For as car prices advance the consumer will resist them increasingly. The old family car will be kept for another year or two, a new purchase postponed. The net result is likely to be a fall in total car sales, to the benefit of no one.

The Canadian automobile industry, driven to desperate courses by the wage demands of its unions, was mistaken in demanding more tariff protection from the Government, and some of the industry's leaders fully realize that mistake. Mr. Karl E. Scott, new president of Ford Motor Co. of Canada, understands the mistake quite clearly. He said in a recent statement, "We should not run to the Government for a protective tariff. We must work this out ourselves."

Clearly the automobile industry and its unions have approached their problems in the worst possible way. Their only real solution is to get the price of their cars down, to make them competitive in cost, quality and styling with the excellent and relatively cheap automobiles of Britain and Europe and thus to employ more Canadian workers.

That precisely is what the American automobile industry has done. When the United States began to import the new European compact cars in huge volume, the American industry did not go weeping to the Government for tariff protection. Instead, after the original mistake of its over-sized models, it decided to build a better compact car at home.

Those compacts have caught on with the American public so well that European imports have fallen drastically. Canada, however, has put the cart before the horse by deciding to raise prices all round at the cost of the consumer.

In the end the consumer will decide these issues. No one can force him to buy a new and expensive car so long as the old one will serve. The Canadian automobile industry of Ontario may get higher prices but will it get more sales and employment? Even if it manages to get more sales at higher prices there will be less money in the Canadian family for the purchase of other goods and other industries will feel the results.

The simple fact is that the automobile industry—against the advice of leaders like Mr. Scott of Ford—has already priced itself largely out of its old foreign markets and now seems set to price itself out of the Canadian market as well.

Many other industries are doing the same thing and that short-sighted policy is the root of all our economic problems today. Of course they can be disguised by another inflation of the currency but the disguise won't last long. If we are to start another wage-price spiral it will only worsen our weak competitive position at home and abroad, and compound our basic trouble.

Now a Matter of Health

THERE CAN HAVE BEEN NO doubts about the need for more adequate sewerage facilities in the Cadboro Bay and Gordon Head areas of Saanich, even while the necessary bylaw to effect improvements was being defeated on two occasions. A revised bylaw is to be submitted next Thursday to ratepayers in the areas affected. It is to be hoped that this time it will be found acceptable.

There are some exempted sections, in which the minimum half-acre lots, the porous soil and the slope of the land make septic tanks a feasible alternative to sewers. But in much of the sewerage area the soil is not suitable for good septic tank operation, the houses are built close together and the roadside ditches provide all too obvious proof that some form of sewer connection is needed.

The plan now presented is not cheap, but it is not likely ever to be cheaper. Construction costs have risen by 11 per cent since the project was submitted to a negative vote in 1958. There is no indication that the rise will not continue.

'That Pleasant American'

PETER MILLER DAWKINS, 22, is a West Point graduate, a former All-American football star and currently the Yank at Oxford. The Times of London calls him "that pleasant American."

He has helped his university beat Cambridge in rugby and has had his face pushed in the mud helping team-mates to score tries. He is good-looking, articulate and reserved.

As a Rhodes Scholar on leave from the American Army, he has phrased an interesting comparison of university attitudes to sport in his native country and in Britain.

"American universities undoubtedly provide better facilities for the good athlete," he says. "With professional coaches and an efficient establishment we achieve a quality of play higher than the standard you find in England. But this affects only about 10 per cent of the American students. What about the fellow who would like to play but knows he isn't very good? We're lax in encouraging these people and so, of course, their attitude turns to indifference.

"Here in England you see all ages, shapes, sizes and kinds of people playing games regularly—they don't feel under any pressure to excel as long as they're enjoying themselves."

Mr. Dawkins is doing a nice ambassadorial job on the playing fields of Oxford—a counter-balance to "the ugly American." He is also talking in a way that should command attention in Canada's great debate on physical fitness and the means of producing champions.

Listening to him, a person might realize that athletics need not necessarily be a grim business after all. It is still possible to play a game for the fun of it.

FROM BONN

By JOSEPH ALSOP

West Germany Is Banking on Kennedy

CHANCELLOR ADENAUER, anxiously, impatiently waiting for the first sign of the new direction in Washington, is a symbol of the whole Western alliance. Under the surface of acceptance of President Eisenhower's leadership, eagerness for a new direction in Washington has been visibly growing in every major Western capital for a matter of years. The fact that this eagerness is known to be shared by the German Chancellor, the special intimate of the late John Foster Dulles, speaks volumes in itself.

Alsop

Initially, it must be added, Chancellor Adenauer hoped that the man who would give the new direction would be Vice-President Nixon. His concern was so great, in fact, that he took the unusual measure of sending his minister of information, Felix von Eckardt, on a mission to the United States at the beginning of the presidential campaign. Von Eckardt went, in effect, as the special political reporter of the German government.

Culmination

Von Eckardt returned after an extensive inquiry, which culminated in long private talks with both the Republican and Democratic candidates. He predicted the victory of President-elect Kennedy.

Perhaps more important, he also told Adenauer that he could stop worrying, because Kennedy could be counted on for vigorous and firm leadership of the West.

The cause of the chancellor's previous worry about the election of Kennedy was, quite simply, his expectation that Adlai Stevenson was destined to be Kennedy's secretary of state.

Adenauer deeply distrusts Stevenson because he is convinced that Stevenson actually holds the distinctly soft views on Berlin and other problems which were attributed to him by the French newspaperman who published an unauthorized interview last spring.

Apparently von Eckardt was in a position to report that Stevenson was unlikely to be Kennedy's secretary of state. In this connection, it is worth noting that the precise aspect of Stevenson which most alarmed Adenauer—his view on Berlin—also appears to have been the aspect which made Kennedy reluctant to name Stevenson to the secretaryship.

Relationship

The crucial episode in the Stevenson-Kennedy relationship, it can be said, was Stevenson's journey to confer with Kennedy at Hyannis just after the Democratic convention. Stevenson then advised the kind of compromise at Berlin which would have left the freedom of the city quite largely dependent on the reliability and good faith of Soviet guarantees.

Kennedy's reaction to this advice may be judged by the post-election statement on Berlin which he made for European consumption — certainly the most uncompromising statement made on this topic since the Berlin crisis began two years ago.

That Kennedy statement, and von Eckardt's personal report, are the main reasons why optimism about the Kennedy administration is now heard on all sides in Bonn, where a Republican defeat used to be almost as much feared as in Formosa.

A lesser reason is the extremely maladroit performance of the recent mission headed by Secretary Anderson. Ironically, this is supposed to have led Chancellor Adenauer, now a vigorous eighty-four, to remark that the American government "evidently needed rejuvenation."

Confidence

The degree of confidence that the German government now tentatively gives to the new American leadership may be judged, in turn, by one of the ideas about the next round in the Berlin crisis that is now being considered in high quarters here.

The chancellor and his ministers agree that the next round cannot be indefinitely put off. Nikita S. Khrushchev has said as much, with great emphasis, to the German ambassador in Moscow. But after swearing that he would sign a separate peace treaty with his East German puppets if he were kept waiting too long, Khrushchev also said he would be content if negotiations were renewed in the spring. He also seemed to indicate that the mere renewal of negotiations would be enough to satisfy him.

Obviously, however, a seriously prepared summit meeting cannot take place so soon after the new American government has been formed. Equally obviously, not much can be hoped from a resumption of the foreign ministers' talks about Berlin.

Hence one idea now current here is that the next round should begin with a simple Khrushchev-Kennedy meeting, not of long duration, not for active bargaining purposes, but solely to allow the two men to take each other's measure.

If Bonn were not optimistic about Kennedy, such an idea for a new start would not even be considered here.

But Don't Joggle the Cargo

From MacLean's Magazine

OF the Christmas messages we have seen this year the most striking is that of Vice-Admiral Elton Grenfell, commander of U.S. submarine forces, Atlantic, to the hundred-man crew of the new atomic submarine George Washington, who will be spending the birthday of Jesus somewhere beneath the surface of the North Atlantic. According to the Associated Press, Admiral Grenfell expressed the hope that because of the George Washington's Yuletide mission, "the annual Christmas theme of peace this year may really have a true significance."

Truly, a word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver (Proverbs XXV, 11). The George Washington carries sixteen Polaris missiles, all armed with hydrogen warheads. By the official estimate of the U.S. Navy, their firepower is equal to that of all the bombs dropped during World War II, but this estimate probably errs on the side of caution.

To get a true appraisal of the George Washington's armament, we must imagine the bombs that levelled Tokyo and Berlin, Rotterdam and Coventry, Stalingrad and Pearl Harbor, not to mention Hiroshima and Nagasaki, all going off at once, and leaving behind a radioactive dew to poison whatever bits of God's green earth may have escaped the vaporizing flame.

That is the authentically modern note, in this belated introduction of "true significance" into the season of peace on earth, good will toward men. Other recent manifestations would strike our ancestors as familiar, perhaps even trite.

The "treason" trial of twenty-nine South Africans, which enters its fifth and final year this month, is a case in point. It would have been perfectly intelligible to King Herod, the monarch who was compelled by high policy and considerations of national security to protect the Judaean state against the subversive infants of Bethlehem. Torquemada would have understood it too, and so would the four loyal knights who, obedient to their king's command, spent another Yuletide planning the murder of St. Thomas Becket.

But only in 1960 could such a vessel as the George Washington go forth on such a Christmas mission to "contribute (in the felicitous words of Admiral Arleigh Burke) to the salvation of civilization."

In the future, no doubt, we shall contrive even greater exploits of doublethink. George Orwell wrote the appendix to his novel 1984, "The Principles of Newspeak," as recently as 1948. In those twelve short years we have already made great progress in developing what John Kenneth Galbraith has called "the word-fact," namely the creation of a fact not previously true by the simple act of assertion. Orwell, if he had lived, would be proud of us. No doubt we shall continue to improve.

Meanwhile, though, there are certain more humdrum realities which can be obscured but not dispelled by the use of word-facts. We wish a Merry Christmas to the crew of the George Washington—but not so merry as to joggle their cargo.

As Our Readers See It

Delinquent

Are our newspapers and magazines delinquent? I think you will admit there is room for improvement.

A recent advertisement in your newspaper carries these adjectives: "wickedly", "much allure", "all temptation". If I remember correctly I saw an advertisement for a movie entitled "Three Murders for the Price of One."

Time of Choice

A letter from "Voice of Women" national officers (Times, Dec. 1) calls the sailing of the U.S. nuclear submarine "the kind of action that can only lead to war."

In the same edition of the newspaper appears the headline "We May Be Forced to Go Nuclear," a quote from our external affairs minister.

Is Canada, then, to yield to pressure from the U.S. and enter the insane nuclear arms race? Who but a lunatic could believe that nuclear submarines roaming the seas are a step toward a peaceful world?

This is a time of choice for Canadians, and it is to be hoped they will deluge Ottawa with letters of protest. If any person in this area wishes to take an active part in "waging peace," there are five non-Communist organizations in Victoria working in various ways toward this end, and a "Voice of Women" group is currently being organized. Names and addresses of these organizations can be obtained by contacting the undersigned.

Trouble on Ice

The troubles besetting the Victoria Memorial Arena turn one's thoughts to another arena still in embryo — Esquimalt's.

I think history will record that this brave Esquimalt venture was "sold" to the voters by means of a certain leaflet which was mailed most carefully to every taxpayer in the Municipality. This piece of literature was notable for several reasons.

The first was, perhaps, a rather careless oversight. It failed to mention that, in order to finance the scheme, it would be necessary to borrow $400,000, (more than 56 per cent of the municipality's then existing debenture debt), and that, during the twenty-year term of the loan, interest to be paid would amount to $296,760.

The second notable feature of the document, and undoubtedly the punch line of the sales pitch, was the statement: "Your Council has examined operational statements of more than a dozen rinks in B.C. and are satisfied that . . . a sports centre here can be operated at no expense to the taxpayers in Esquimalt."

Are you curious about these "more than a dozen rinks?" Take your place with everybody else who has tried to pry this information out of the Esquimalt Reeve and Council. It would seem that a cloak of deepest secrecy must be drawn around every arena, whether in its gestation or in its operation.

A third feature was another oversight, namely, failure to mention a situation quite peculiar to Esquimalt. It is this: financial success, (if any), of the venture would be possible only if it were supported by patrons from outside of the municipality. These stalwarts are obliged to come—(look at the map!)—from a considerable distance. Just suppose it became apparent to them that their patronage would make equally successful a similar venture in their own bailiwick. When I meditate upon the effect this would have on the Esquimalt scheme I become quite sad.

United States Objectives Can Be Achieved, But the Bill Has to Be Paid

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER'S commission on national goals is under no illusion that the objectives it has set for the United States can be achieved cheaply or easily. The bill has to be paid.

Resources are a crucial test of a nation's ability to attain its goals, says the commission's report.

At the present time, it adds, federal, state and local governments in the United States are spending about $135 billion each year, of which about $99 billion represents purchases of goods and services (as opposed to social security and similar transfer payments).

Increased expenditures are predicted in national defence, national security, foreign aid, education, health, urban renewal, housing, transportation, basic research, reservation of open spaces and in other fields.

"Economies can and must be made," the report continues. Savings are foreseen in the federal agricultural program and in more government efficiency. But these will not offset rising expenses.

"We therefore face the prospect, though by no means the certainty, that aggregate tax rates will continue at something like their present level through the decade and may even have to be increased."

Provided that the economic growth of the nation proceeds at an annual rate of 3.4 per cent or higher, there is no doubt that the American people can bear a higher level of taxation without consequences which themselves would make the goals more difficult to reach, the report says.

The average citizen's standard of living would continue to rise; though perhaps at a rate below that of the recent past. A moderate increase in tax rates, the commission says, need not, if its necessity were understood, materially impair the incentive or the morale of the American people, nor alter the primary reliance of the economy on private choice.

Tax systems which must allocate for governments about one-fifth of the national product must be both fair and designed to reduce to a minimum the impact of taxes upon growth, the commission feels.

"A substantial reform in the tax system is essential," the report states. "The federal tax system should be revised to eliminate unjustified exceptions to its general rules, to assure equitable treatment of all types of incomes, to encourage the accumulation of risk capital so vital to economic growth, and to remedy the many contradictions and flaws which have grown up within the system."

If the reforms suggested by the commission were made, it believes that the levels of public spending needed to realize the recommendations of the report would be attainable. There must, it adds, be no ideological preference for public spending as such. Costs must always be carefully weighed. But the needs outlined in the report are themselves vitally related to ultimate freedom and individual development. They should be met.

The report makes the point that the centres of economic power should be as diffused and as balanced as possible. "Too great concentrations of economic power in corporations, unions, or other organizations can lead to abuses and loss of the productive results of fair competition," the commission says. Individuals should have a maximum freedom in their choice of jobs, goods and services.

The report holds that government participation in the economy should be limited to those instances where it is essential to the national interest and where private individuals or organizations cannot adequately meet the need. But government must maintain its regulatory control in areas such as anti-trust laws, collusion, and protection of investors and consumers.

Collective bargaining between employers and workers should continue to determine working conditions, and conferences between management, union leaders and representatives of the public should promote understanding of problems affecting the welfare of the economy as a whole. Neither management nor union should dominate the citizens' private lives.

Barriers against employment of women and older workers should be removed.

"The economy should grow at the maximum rate consistent with primary dependence upon free enterprise and the avoidance of marked inflation," the report continues. "Increased investment in the public sector is consistent with this goal."

Such growth is essential in a move toward the goal of full employment to provide jobs for about 13,500,000 net new additions to the work force during the next 10 years, to improve the standard of living; and to assure United States competitive strength.

Unemployment must be kept below 4 per cent of the labor force.

The commission has considered the opinion of economists estimating the annual growth rate of the gross national product at 3.4 per cent up to as high as 5 per cent. The lower the rate, the higher the taxes, and the greater the individual effort and sacrifice, possibly entailing forced savings and reduced consumption.

ON THE TIMES — By ART STOTT

Winter Spring

Stott

THE December sun slips into a grey sludge of cloud above Race Rocks and grey mist over the water. A slash of color, pale yellow like ripe grain, brightens the western sky briefly and fades. The lines of the Olympics blur.

This is the far edge of dusk. A pair of seagulls, their high-wheeling daytime flight behind them, heads purposefully for the roosting grounds of sheltered, rocky islands, dark shapes on rhythmic wings.

A cormorant, long neck outstretched, legs and feet trailing, flies low above the Strait, his course bullet-straight. The smaller, black ducks that never seem to move inshore, paddle softly on the swell, dipping for food, keeping a tidy distance from the fisherman.

Cold seeps down from the sky, is swept obliquely at the man in the small boat on a sharpening breeze from the gut between the islands. Only by rowing can he keep warm and then not where the light wind fingers inside the upturned collar of his lined canvas jacket.

* * *

The water, steel-grey in the afternoon, turns darker, like metal newly cooled from a forge, wrinkled, unfriendly.

A big fishboat, breathing the short, throaty gasps of its diesel, moves down the Strait, its mast lights above the swell attempting the upright dignity of a staid drunk.

The dusk thickens. The horizon moves forward. The troller in his rowboat starts one last circle before heading into the bay.

This is the time, the light and the type of water that could bring him a winter spring.

The oars dip, push the water back, lift, swing forward, dip, push the water back, lift . . . The rod end rests lightly over the transom, the reel on the butt between the fisherman's feet. He turns in his easy circle—stroke, recovery, stroke, recovery.

Then the rod tip bends. Line goes singing out from his reel. The knobs on the spool bruise his knuckles as he checks the first driving run of the hooked fish.

He talks to himself: "Easy, easy. Let him run. Keep your rod tip up. Easy, easy. Come on, big fellah, come on. Gently, gently," and he reels in, gaining back half the 60 feet of the fish's frantic first dash.

The slow, heavy drag ends with another thrashing underwater swirl as the spring dives, sounding now, sounding. He keeps talking: "Hold the line tension, hold it. Not too much. Now bring him in, but gently. Let him run again, let him run. Softly now, softly."

* * *

Light hand on the reel he draws the heavy line up from directly below. Into the dusk-light water comes the dodger and below it the blue-silver of the salmon.

The fish turns, twists with a flash of white belly and is off again, rushing in a wide arc around the boat.

The careful recovery starts once more, six feet in, three out, as the dashes become more sporadic.

The cold of the evening has gone. Blood pumps warm through the fisherman's body. Excitement bubbles in him.

The salmon comes slowly up to the boat, near spent now, swimming on its side. The fisherman gently pulls back the rod. The catch is almost made.

One last, furious rush takes the fish along the boat side. The light lead snags, a final tug and the trophy floats free, lies a moment on the surface and turns lazily down into deep water.

The troller is still talking to himself, not gently now, but in words of harsh self-criticism.

The night chill sharpens. The outline of the point is dim. Lights begin to wink on in houses ashore. Another December evening's fishing is over—another victory for a winter spring.

TODAY'S TRAFFIC TROUBLE TIP

CABBIE WANTS CAR TESTS

Headlights—or lack of them—are so upsetting to one driver he has written about them twice in the first 10 days of "Traffic Tips."

The writer, a full-time cab driver on the 4-12.30 night shift, boils his argument down to the need here of a vehicle testing bureau where such things as auto light checks may be enforced.

Faulty lighting, says "Cabbie," is the "worst trouble we night drivers have, we who drive for our living and for the service of the public."

Cars with only one headlight he puts at the top of the list, followed by cars with maladjusted headlights and those with only one tail light or no brake lights at all.

A combination of the latter two faults can be most misleading to a following driver when the car ahead brakes suddenly—no hand signal or brake lights—or, if one tail light works and the brakes are pumped to make the light flash, a turn is falsely suggested.

Of the one-headlight boys, "Cabbie" says those with the one on the right functioning properly is the worst for another driver to encounter. But the most flagrant is the driver who flicks his headlights on dazzlingly high beam so he will have two working lights if one low beam is burned out.

The taxi man says he has seen as many as four out of 12 cars coming into the city along Patricia Bay Highway with just one headlight, and the night of Nov. 29 he counted in one hour 19 cars with one headlight, travelling streets all over the city.

This is a comparatively small area considering "Cabbie's" weekly average of 600 miles is driven in an area little more than five miles radius from city hall.

A testing bureau could see, once or twice a year at least, that lights, brakes, windshield wipers, window glass, mirrors, wheel alignment and other mechanical parts are in proper order, the writer suggests.

"I'm all in favor of police checks; we need more of them. But even more, we need a motor vehicle check station," he says.

A professional has spoken.

'I'LL CUT OFF NILE' THREATENS MOBUTU

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—Congolese army chief Col. Joseph Mobutu declared Monday he is ready to block two important tributaries of the Nile if the United Arab Republic and the Sudan supply aid to a secessionist regime in Stanleyville.

"As a last resort, I am ready to turn my whole army into laborers to cut the waters of the Nile," he told reporters.

Bernard Salamu, a district commissioner who has helped run Stanleyville and supports deposed premier Patrice Lumumba, announced last week he would secede from the rest of The Congo.

Mobutu said the UAR and Sudan had reached a secret agreement to supply aid to the Stanleyville regime.

HUGH MacLENNAN
. . . unfair competition

'Save Our Canadian Magazines'

MONTREAL (CP)—Author Hugh MacLennan of Montreal said today that if present "unfair foreign competition kills our magazines . . . they will not be reborn."

In a brief submitted to the royal commission on publications, Mr. MacLennan urged it "to consider ways and means of saving our magazines from extinction, and of making possible the economic conditions within the trade which will permit new ones to be born."

He added:

"Failing prompt action in this respect, one of these days we will read in Time that from henceforth all Canadian voices save those of the CBC and the daily press are American voices."

CAN'T OFFER SOLUTION

A novelist and a free-lance writer of non-fiction, Mr. MacLennan said that since he is neither a lawyer nor a businessman he would not suggest ways to protect Canadian magazines.

"But surely they can be discovered and put into action, without giving offence to our fair-minded neighbor, the United States. Surely it is self-evident, in view of the damage done to our native talent and our nation's spiritual potential, to require at least that no publication, printed outside the country and containing an editorial content entirely or in large proportion foreign, should be permitted to carry Canadian advertising directed specifically to the Canadian consumer. . . .

"Whether we like it or not, advertising revenue is the economic lifeblood of a Canadian magazine. This makes it all the more unjust that these 'Canadian' editions should be allowed to bleed our publications white.

"Why, one might surely ask, should they have the presumption to call themselves 'Cana-18 from the field.

FAIR COMPETITION

"Why should any magazine be permitted to call itself Canadian—in order to take advantage of our market—unless at least 65 per cent of its editorial content deals with Canadian topics written by Canadian writers, unless it is edited by Canadians owing no obedience to a head office south of the border, unless it deals with foreign material from a Canadian point of view?"

ANATOMY OF NORTH ATLANTIC

U.K. Must Stay Competitive

(Bruce Hutchison, Editor of the Times, returned recently from a six-week fact-finding visit to the United Kingdom and Europe. Today he continues a series of articles on the effect that trade and economic policies now in the making there will have on Canada.)

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

(One of a Series)

Hutchison

The nature of Britain's developing balance-of-payment problem—which is certain to affect a similar but much worse problem in Canada—can be stated in a few simple figures.

They were supplied to this correspondent by the Federation of British Industries, the national parliament of business. Having no political axe to grind and representing virtually all industries in Britain, the federation takes a cold, factual view of the nation's economic prospects. That view, at the moment, is far from optimistic for the following reasons:

In 1960, said the spokesman of the federation, Britain probably would earn a net surplus in all its foreign trade, visible and invisible, of about £50 millions. To Canada, which may well run a deficit of something six times that sum, the British figure may seem more than satisfactory. In Britain's case it is not. Actually, in relation to Britain's needs, the apparent surplus is a heavy deficit.

'Hot Money'

To begin with, as the federation's spokesman said, substantial sums of gold and hard currencies flowing into London this year usually credited to the over-all exchange surplus represent short-term movements or "hot money" which is not committed to permanent investment in Britain. It has moved, mainly from the United States, to secure the relatively high British interest rates now prevailing or to provide a hedge against any fall in the U.S. dollar. This money can be withdrawn at any time, without notice.

More important, said the business spokesman, Britain's over-all trading surplus this year would be far smaller than it was in the two preceding years. As against the anticipated surplus of £50 millions this year, the figures stood at £140 millions in 1959 and £300 millions in 1958. The curve is sharply and alarmingly downward.

Still more important, a surplus of £50 millions is far from adequate to meet Britain's total requirements.

Her whole trading policy—for both economic and political reasons—is based on a very large export of capital into foreign aid and overseas investment. To maintain its planned schedule (on which its overseas friends count heavily), Britain should export about £150 millions a year, or three times the amount of its probable current trading surplus. Last year Britain exported £200 millions to aid undeveloped countries, to irrigate the free world's economy in general and to earn future dividends for British investors.

Serious Effects

This year, the federation's spokesman anticipated, Britain would manage to export its planned amount of £150 millions by a tight squeeze. "But unless the present trend of trade is altered, and soon," he added, "we can't keep up this rate of export and we shall be heading for a real emergency. For the moment the trouble is masked by the inflow of hot money. Most likely that won't last long. Certainly we can't count on it."

If the present trading trend continues, he explained, Britain would be driven in the end to a drastic reduction of its capital exports, with serious political and economic effects on many foreign countries; and then, if necessary, to the reimposition of import controls that were lifted this year, with great benefits to Canadian exporters. Devaluation of the pound would be a last desperate measure which no one expects.

Any attempts to reduce capital exports or commodity imports should be avoided, the spokesman argued, because such negative measures would solve nothing. In the end they would only worsen Britain's problems and the world economy.

What, then, was needed to arrest the developing exchange dilemma?

"Our only chance," the spokesman answered, "is to get our costs of production down, to keep our exports competitive throughout the world. Above everything, we must have an increase in productivity, output per man-hour. Today productivity is rising but not as fast as wages are beginning to rise, and that means higher costs.

Productivity Key

"To keep in the race with the Six of the Common Market we need to raise our productivity by at least 4 per cent per year and we aren't doing that. The Six are doing much better than Britain. For example, the German standard of living will exceed ours in five years at the present rate and already the Germans export more manufactured goods than we do. So we just can't afford to let these trends continue."

Britain has enjoyed more than two years of virtual price stability since the defeat of the famous bus strike in 1958 convinced the labor unions that it was folly to demand wage increases far in excess of the growth of the nation's productivity and real means of payment.

But in recent months claims for wage increases are piling up again. There is no sign, the federation's spokesman said, that the labor unions realize Britain's true position and the perils of its deteriorating foreign exchange figures. Nor does the public at large.

Jersey Joe Jolted By Probe Reports

Gibson Suggests Carbo Dictated Terms for Fight

"This is really a shock. I can't believe it. I think it's a false statement."

This was the reaction today from Jersey Joe Walcott when told it was implied in United States Senate testimony that Frankie Carbo, alleged underworld boxing czar, dictated terms for his 1952 rematch with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

Walcott, who had just returned home after completing a night's work with the Camden, N.J., city police, was shaken when a newspaper man related testimony given in Washington as a Senate anti-trust sub-committee reopened its investigation into underworld interference in boxing.

When told that Truman Gibson, former president of the International Boxing Club, of New York and Chicago, had said that a sub-committee investigator was correct in suggesting Carbo had told Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, to negotiate terms and put Walcott in the match with Marciano for $250,000, Jersey Joe replied:

"This is all news to me. I have never had any association with Carbo or with anyone like him. I wouldn't know him if I saw him. To my knowledge Felix had no association with Carbo.

"I did the fighting and all I knew was that the matches were made. As far as I know the connections were by the IBC. I'm sure there must be some misunderstanding."

The story brought out under questioning in Washington was that the IBC had Marciano's contract, but not that of Walcott. Carbo told Bocchicchio to negotiate terms and put Walcott into the match.

Arrangement Antagonized Marciano

The result, Gibson said, was that the IBC paid Walcott $250,000, an arrangement that "antagonized Marciano and forever alienated him from us."

Said Walcott: "Felix did all the managing, arranging and set the price. As far as the price is concerned I had no part. When a match was made he would tell me and I would go from there."

Walcott, 46, former world heavyweight king who retired after Marciano knocked him out in the first round in a Chicago rematch, now works with juvenile delinquents.

"I've always prided myself in my boxing and daily life," he said. "I've never had any part in any wrongdoing and I don't believe Felix did anything wrong."

At his home in Mount Ephraim, N.J., Bocchicchio denied he ever did business with Carbo.

"I never talked to Carbo about that match for Walcott—or any other. I did business with James D. Norris, who ran the IBC. We had a contract for a return if Joe lost his defence, but no price was stipulated. I was afraid it wouldn't draw in Chicago. So they guaranteed me the $250,000. I've known Carbo, but I never did any business with him."

At Washington Monday, Gibson acknowledged payment of more than $180,000 to an influential promoter and the wife of Carbo to ensure what he called a "free flow of fighters" for television IBC bouts.

Decided to 'Live With' Gangsters

Gibson told the Senate subcommittee about $142,500 which he said went to Jack Kearns, who once piloted heavyweight Jack Dempsey, among others.

He refused to accept a subcommittee lawyer's description of these transactions as payoffs.

Gibson confirmed that separate payments totalling between $40,000 and $45,000 went to Viola Masters. A subcommittee aide said records at Palm Beach, Fla., indicate she is married to Carbo, who is serving a two-year prison sentence for undercover fight operations.

Earlier, Gibson pictured Carbo as wielding sometimes controlling influence over two dozeno U.S. fight promoters and managers.

Among other things, Gibson implied that Carbo dictated terms for the 1952 rematch between Walcott and Marciano.

Gibson, leading off the anti-monopoly subcommittee's new round of hearings on gangster infiltration of the fight business, said the IBC decided to "live with" the underworld to avoid trouble in getting fighters.

The IBC, formed in 1947, actually was controlled by Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz, but went out of operation a few years ago after the Supreme Court held it was monopolistic.

Gibson said he either made or ordered payments to Kearns. Although it wasn't pinned down, the money apparently went to Kearns and Mrs. Carbo in the 1954-1957 period.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

LOS ANGELES—Always, Mike Jacobs, the last great fight promoter, seemed like a Metropolitan hick among the hippies of the fight racket. In those years, managers maintained their prestige with spectacular dissipation. The frugal among them were ridiculed as squares. They judged their own by how much they bet on horses or how long they could drink whisky without falling down. The guy who ducked a cheque was considered a scoundrel.

Memories of Jacobs came back to me after covering Saturday's third Ray Robinson-Gene Fullmer fight. He was a Broadway guy because he originally hustled tickets from the doorways of Times Square. But the vices of the people he did business with never appealed to him. He would stall with a drink as if it were poison and he was generally the only sober guy at the party.

* * *

Night clubs bored him and often I've seen him doze through a show. He quit early and was up before most of the fight mob of that time had gone to bed. He kept a hotel suite in town, but he made it to Rumson, N.J., where his roses bloomed in a vast garden. He was grumpy and humorless and had few friends.

* * *

The excitement of fights never touched him. The size of the crowd was all that concerned him. But he had a mystic sense about the appeal of pugs, and he gambled high on his judgment. I know him as well as most and better than many, but I never heard him discuss the skills of a fighter. He measured them by what they meant at the box office.

He cherished Joe Louis because he made a fortune with him. But he had no opinion of Louis' greatness. The calculations of the bookkeepers appraised a pug's style for Jacobs. He made money with the good ones. The stiffs were those whose failures were described in red ink.

No one ever pushed Jacobs around, and that included the hoodlums. I'm sure the television people wouldn't have taken the racket away from him, either. He saw television coming a long time ago—and talked about how it would change the racket.

Television Was Assassin of Boxing

The racket was slain by television. But the assassin wouldn't have killed it without a tussle from Jacobs. He was ready for it and, I'm sure, would have come up with a way to force it to enrich the racket instead of impoverishing it. The promoter of the age of television was Jim Norris, who delivered the racket to the broadcasting companies. He flourished with his greedy cut and busted the fight mob.

It is not that Jacobs was a philanthropist. He was a stingy man and yet he was generous. He would snarl at old fighters who tried to mooch a ticket, but he would stake guys he respected when they tapped themselves out with habits he abhorred.

The mob knew when a fight was selling tickets. Success made Jacobs surly and unapproachable. But he lost with dignity and he wouldn't welch on his obligations.

* * *

There has never been a saint in any sport and Jacobs certainly wasn't one. But he knew that crooked fights were bad for his business. They hooked him with some satched jobs, but not many. If the gossip suggested a fighter might be taking a dive, Jacobs called the district attorney and told him what he knew.

* * *

The fight mob has long been subservient to the slogans of the underworld. They live by the motto that you don't jam a hustler or blow a police whistle. But Jacobs called the cops any time he figured he was being set up as a mark.

He was a strange man and he lived in concealment, although he was one of the most famous men in sports. One afternoon I asked him to define his philosophy.

"If I made a million dollars in the morning," Jacobs said, "I'd hustle as hard as I could the rest of the day even if I knew all I could make was a dime."

Boom Boom Fails To Last Distance

BALTIMORE (AP)—Harold Carter, Linden, N.J., heavyweight boxer, won a technical knockout Monday night when Warrenell (Boom Boom) Lester collapsed from exhaustion at 1.55 in the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round fight.

Carter, making his first ring appearance since he was stopped by Charley Powell last March, decked the exhausted Lester twice in the eighth with seemingly harmless right hands before Lester's trainer, Pete Bass, threw in the towel.

Navy Ace Faces Puck Suspension

With four straight victories and undisputed possession of first place in tow, Navy's ice-breakers appear to be travelling under full steam in the Commercial Hockey League.

But there could be rough water ahead, depending on the size of the storm that blows out of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association's offices.

It's a storm that could wash Neil Standley off the ship and onto the beach. Standley, who scored four goals in Monday's 7-4 victory over Pattersons, is under indefinite suspension for charging into referee George McPherson.

MATCH PENALTY

He received a match penalty for the incident late in the third period and his case will be dealt with by the BCAHA. Severity of the penalty depends on the wording of the referee's report, but it could be rough going if the provincial puck bosses decide to mete out a suspension of any sizable length.

Standley, obviously resenting a tripping penalty assessed him, charged from near the goal to the blueline where McPherson was standing.

DIDN'T FINISH

The force of player meeting referee was such that it dislodged the sole from McPherson's skate boot. McPherson retired for the balance of the game and most fans were under the impression the official injured his ankle.

In the second half of Monday's doubleheader at Memorial Arena, Independents came up with four unanswered goals in the third period to edge Army 6-4.

Overlooking the 16 minors, misconduct and match penalty called in the Navy-Patterson game, Monday's twin-bill was perhaps one of the best of the season.

TIME OUT! By JEFF KEATE

"Since when does a bowling ball gurgle?"

By RON SUDLOW

"Vancouver, here we come!"

That's the cry around the halls of learning at Mount View as the newly-crowned city champions await finalization of plans for the B.C. senior boys' high school soccer championship with the mainland's best.

Coach Val Hinch's Hornets, putting their biggest sting in a well-balanced attack with two quick goals at the start of the second half, claimed the city crown Monday by defeating Victoria High Totems 4-2.

Hornets now travel to Vancouver for the provincial final, which will probably be played Saturday.

Mount View's big victory Monday, bringing the school its first city title since 1954, put the wraps on a thrilling best-of-three series. The teams wound up the first two games with draws, 1-1 and 2-2.

BODEN STARS

And while the spotlight fell on goalie Larry Johnston for much of the season when he established a record of seven straight shutouts, the play Monday shifted to centre forward Al Boden.

The brilliant centre, top scorer with Heaneys of the Victoria and District (senior) League, stood out Monday by scoring three goals, including the two quick ones in the second half that proved the crushing blow for Vic High.

The two quick goals boosted Hornets into a 4-1 lead and they were rarely threatened after that. Mount View led 2-1 at the half.

PIERCY CONNECTS

Ken Piercy, another standout in Hornets' attack, counted Mount View's first goal while Fred Potts and Rangit Dillon counted for the Totems.

Johnston played his usual steady game for Hornets despite a slight knee injury and another game standout was Vic High back Neil Worboys. He was brilliant in thwarting the numerous rushes by Mount View's dangerous Boden-Piercy combination.

In the long run, it was Hornets' hustle, speed and slight edge in experience that proved the difference Monday. Crisp passing and solid team play also had a big hand in the victory.

Bays' Coach Claims Hoop Scorer Erred

Naval Vets opened a four-point lead atop the women's division standings, but their fourth victory in five games must still be confirmed by the Victoria Basketball Commission.

Wally Yeamans' Vets were credited with a 40-38 victory over Hudson's Bay Monday night but the Bays' coach promptly protested the decision. Lloyd Henderson charged a mistake had been made in scoring and that the score was tied 40-40 when the buzzer went to end the game at Mount View High.

Standout in the game was Vets' Louis Mason, who dropped in 20 points, including 18 from the field.

In the second half of a doubleheader, Malcolm Mitchell's 26-point performance sparked Oak Bay Optimists to a 59-31 win over Chinese Students in a junior men's encounter.

Lineups:

Oak Bay Optimists—Bud Taylor 4, Ron Grant 4, Malcolm Shanks, Les Brice 13, Bob Paul, Malcolm Mitchell 26, Brent Siddon 5, Gerald Hale, Mike Renaud 7. Total—59.

Chinese Students — Harry Lum 6, Sherman Quan 13, Don Stevens 1, Bob Lee 2, Art Lim, Ken Yuen, Vincent Quan, Alan Yuen 1, Wally Lum, Henry Woo, Tony Gee 7. Total—31.

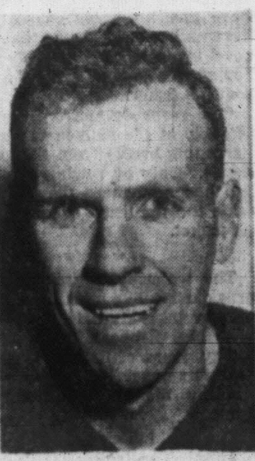
Lowly Bruins May Perk Up

BOSTON (AP)—Boston defenceman Bob Armstrong has skated for the first time in a month and may be ready for action before the end of the week.

Bruins, lodged in the National Hockey League cellar, were heartened by Armstrong's hour-long workout Monday. He has been out of action due to a broken bone in his foot.

Meanwhile, retired Boston goalie Don Simmons, who quit rather than be shipped to the Providence farm club, has had a partial change of heart. He now says he'll play in Providence, but only if the Reds buy his contract from the Bruins. The Bruins won't sell.



GERRY GOYER

Goyer Leads Cougars

Centre Gerry Goyer has taken the lead in individual scoring among members of the Victoria Cougars Hockey Club.

The big playmaker has seven goals and 10 assists for 17 points, far behind the pace being set by league leaders Ron Leopold and Lou Jankowski of Calgary.

Veteran Doug Anderson ranks as the Victoria team's top playmaker with 11 assists while Bill Saunders, who has scored nine goals in nine games since joining the team, is the leading goal-getter.

Both Leopold and Jankowski reached the 20-goal figure last week by tacking five goals on their totals. Leopold also had three assists to boost his point total to 36-20 goals and 16 assists. Jankowski has 20 goals and 15 assists for a 35 total.

Best averages among the goalies is held by two idle puckblockers. Vancouver rookie George Wood, who appears to have lost his job to Claude Evans, has a 2.74 rating and Calgary veteran Lucien Dechene, out with an ankle injury, is next with a 2.88 average per game.

SHARP DECLINE AT VANCOUVER

MEET IN MONTREAL NEXT YEAR

Merrier Mutuel Tune in Ontario and Alberta

By KEN KELLY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Canadians pushed their cash through the betting windows in record amounts, wagering $126,276,421 on horse races in 1960.

However, wagering declined in three of the five provinces with flat-racing. And Ontario, where wagering jumped to a record $90,215,665 from $84,862,840 in 1959, more than accounted for the $5,566,839 Canada-wide increase over last year.

There were 436 days of racing, 11 more than last year, on 18 tracks. Figures do not include harness racing.

A cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press showed that while Ontario, with its season unchanged at 196 days, and Alberta set records, there was a severe drop in betting in British Columbia attributed to strikes and unemployment, while Manitoba and Saskatchewan had smaller declines.

But all remained confident of 1961 prospects. Racing next year will include a 42-day meeting at Blue Bonnets in Montreal, the first running races in Quebec since 1954.

The 81-day meeting at Toronto's New Woodbine for the second straight year topped all tracks in wagering with $37,849,986. The two-day meet at Estevan, Sask., was smallest at $2,218.

Alberta, which replaced British Columbia last year in second place, reported wagerings of $15,554,380, followed by B.C. at $11,803,588, Manitoba at $7,006,531 and Saskatchewan at $1,696,257.

Provincial governments collected $7,566,304 in taxes which vary from a high of 12 per cent of total wagerings in B.C. to 10 per cent in Manitoba, six per cent in Ontario and five per cent in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The federal government collected about $631,382 as its fee of one-half of one per cent for supervisory services such as film patrol, photo finish, saliva tests and RCMP surveillance. Prize money totalled $5,851,880, up from $5,534,725 last year.

New Woodbine's betting record was $2,130,843 higher than last year. Fort Erie, which draws big crowds from Buffalo, N.Y., just across the border, had wagerings of $28,741,809 in its 67 racing days, up from $26,520,171.

Edmonton headed the Alberta list with $9,194,548 wagered in 35 racing days, five more than last year's $8,159,655. Calgary's 36 days, four more than last year, helped push betting there to $6,340,474 from $5,199,369 last year.

Alberta's record total was $2,173,182 higher than the $13,381,198 last year.

British Columbia reported its worst wagering year in five years with a drop of $1,503,819 from last year's $13,307,307. Seven tracks operated for 104 racing days, one less than a year ago.

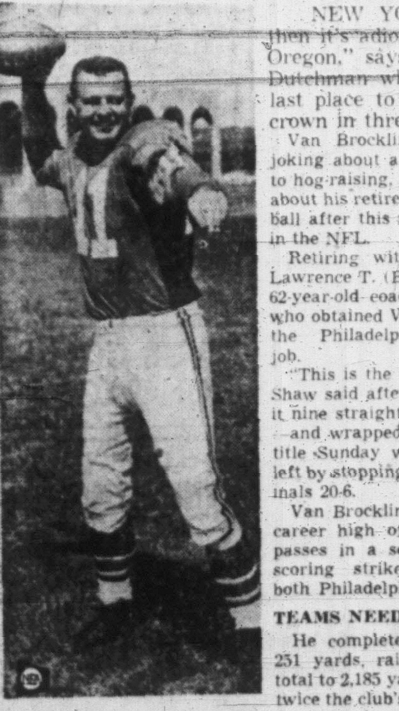
At Lansdowne Park, 10 miles south of Vancouver on Lulu Island, betting dropped to $4,993,694 from $6,120,881 and at Exhibition Park in east-end Vancouver on the Pacific National Exhibition grounds it was down to $5,672,207 from $6,337,181.

Unlike the other big B.C. tracks, Sandown Park at Sidney on Vancouver Island, which is considered Victoria's track, had a better year this year due to good weather and a new ferry system from Vancouver almost to the track.

Betting rose 16.34 per cent and attendance 35.54 per cent to give Sandown a record of $954,723 compared with $820,593 last year.

Betting at other B.C. tracks with last year's figures bracketed: Prince George, $5,754 ($6,134); Williams Lake, $68,078 ($4,984); Vernon, $81,072 ($13,654); Dawson Creek, $26,060 ($3,880).

Pro Grid Game Starts With 'Big' Quarterback



NORM VAN BROCKLIN
". . . one more big one"

NEW YORK (NEA)—"Just one more big one, then it's adios for me and back to my Poland hogs in Oregon," says Norm Van Brocklin, the indomitable Dutchman who pitched the Philadelphia Eagles from last place to the eastern National Football League crown in three years.

Van Brocklin, 34, may be joking about a future devoted to hog-raising, but he's serious about his retirement from football after this season, his 12th in the NFL.

Retiring with him will be Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw, the 62-year-old coaching wizard who obtained Van Brocklin for the Philadelphia rebuilding job.

"This is the way to go out," Shaw said after his club made it nine straight—a club record—and wrapped up the eastern title Sunday with two games left by stopping St. Louis Cardinals 20-6.

Van Brocklin set a personal career high of 22 touchdown passes in a season with two scoring strikes Sunday for both Philadelphia touchdowns.

TEAMS NEED 'BIG GUY'

He completed 13 of 27 for 251 yards, raising his season total to 2,185 yards—more than twice the club's season total on the ground.

Van Brocklin is living proof that everything in the pro football game begins with the quarterback. If a team hasn't a "big" guy to lead the way, it has nothing.

New York Giants have found it out in the last two years every time they've had to go without Charley Conerly. The Eagles know it, because without their pitching ace they might as well have applied for an American Football League franchise.

GAME OF CHECKERS

Never before have the old heads leading the offenses, throwing the crucial passes in throat-tightening situations, been so vital. Pro football, as Eddie Erdelatz puts it, has become a game of checkers—moves and counter-moves.

Veteran Bobby Layne of the Pittsburgh Steelers has simplified it into a guessing game. "You're either going to have seven men rushing you on defence with four men dropping back or four men rushing and seven dropping back," he says.

These nuances virtually demand a coach on the field, and that's what a Van Brocklin is. As the play general of the Eagles, he has four main weapons at his command—the bread-and-butter toss to end Pete Retzloff, the home run pitch to Tommy McDonald, the draw play up the middle with fullback Clarence Peaks running and the halfback slash by Billy Barnes.

CALLS 'AUDIBLES'

With defences stunting and blitzing—i.e., linebackers moving in and out of the line and red-dogging—Van has to call about a dozen "audibles" a game to counter defence tactics. The audible is an oral signal delivered right on the line of scrimmage, in the panting nostrils of the enemy, countermanding the play already called in the huddle.

When you see a defensive end break through unmolested and deck a quarterback before he even has a chance to raise his arm and pass, don't think someone has missed a blocking assignment in the line. Chances are the quarterback didn't catch an imminent red-dog and alter the blocking assignments to pick up the extra blocker.

Van Brocklin is a guy who seldom gets his uniform dirty because a dozen years of coping with 250-pounders has given him the instinct and know-how to ward off a blitz.

SLOWEST QUARTERBACK

Any linebacker who tries to shoot a gap in the line and get at the passer sacrifices normal area coverage for surprise. If the surprise doesn't come off because Van Brocklin has anticipated it, the defence is a sitting duck for a swift toss into the area vacated by the red-dogger.

He's supposed to be the slowest quarterback in football, but Van is a master at hustling back into his protective pocket and getting rid of the ball before tacklers can get at him.

Providence provided him with the gifted arm to throw long or short unerringly.

The Eagles are not much of a running team, and yet they topped the east in defiance of the theorem that says you must establish equal balance rushing and passing.

Buck Shaw is a logician like all the rest who'd like to see the Philly bruisers crack more skulls.

"But," he shrugs, "if you have a guy like Van doing the passing, you can get away without a lot of running."

Christmas shoppers are today's harassed lot, but for those who are looking for a gift to send to a divot-digging friend or relative, there should be no problem.

Shopping for a gift for the golfer can be one of the easiest, least expensive and simplest tasks accomplished during the pre-Chrisamas crush. Chances are, the gift will be among the most appreciated and, if you go to the right man, there will be no exchanging of items after the holiday season.

The right man is the golf professional.

Whether buying for duffer or expert, man or woman, child or adult, the pro can offer you a suitable item. And getting to the pro takes care of one problem right away . . . no parking meters to worry about!

Gifts for golfers can range from 50 cents to $400.50. They can vary from a cheap ball, fancy umbrellas, shag bags, shoes, all-weather jackets, caddy carts and bags to the latest and most expensive matched clubs in the shop.

The pro is suggested because, invariably, he will know the man, woman or child for whom the gift is intended. He will know, therefore, the golfers' preference towards certain items.

But don't ask for a plus one handicap. That, unfortunately, you can't buy.

Persistance may rate some credit for Mrs. W. A. B. Hadley's deserving victory last week in the annual par matches for ladies of the Victoria Golf Club.

The annual event is restricted to competitiors who have won one of the regular monthly par competitions during the regular season.

Mrs. Hadley's victory last week was her first after missing only two of the annual par matches over the past 35 years.

Dick Munn and Bill Wakeham, two of the most confident and most capable golf youngsters around, have every right to accuse Dr. George Bigelow of "unethical practice."

Oak Bay's golfing doctor and partner Laurie Carroll pulled their open button match out of the fire Sunday, and the manner in which Dr. Bigelow did it must have added 30 years to the young lives of Mr. Munn and Mr. Wakeham.

One down after 16 holes, Dr. Bigelow squared the match by holing a long putt for an eagle three on the par five 17th. On the last hole, George chipped in off the apron for a birdie three and their sixth straight victory.

It was one of the most thrilling matches of the year, despite the fact Carroll and Dr. Bigelow had a best-ball score of only 67, two under par. The young challengers from Uplands carded a best-ball 68 and held a two-hole advantage at the turn.

It's an all-Oak Bay battle next Sunday when Ron MacLeod and Roy Chappell making their challenge at Colwood.

Al MacLeod and Dick Freeman of Gorge Vale retained the junior buttons by defeating clubmates Vic Derman and Earl Francis, 2 and 1, and next Sunday face Cedar Hill's Munn and Bill Hodgson.

Senior buttons also remained in the same hands when Ted Williams and Tom Whitemore defeated Tom Alston and Vaughn Pritchard, four up. George Bell and Bert Nex supply the next challenge. All are Uplands' members.

When you play the professional golf circuit, you play by the rules, and it doesn't matter who you are.

In the second round of the West Palm Beach Open, which wound up Sunday, Lou Strong of Rochester, N.Y., was delayed reaching the course. He had a good excuse. His rented car caught fire. He was, nevertheless, penalized two shots for being 10 minutes late at the first tee.

Oh, yes, Strong is the new president of the Professional Golfers' Association.

SHORT CHIPS: Dr. Bigelow and Ed Goodwill, both finishing all square with par, tied for turkey honors at Oak Bay Saturday and will play off for the bird next weekend . . . Uplands members take part in a two-ball mixed foursome competition next Sunday . . . And Gorge Vale's annual turkey shoot has already drawn 140 entrants, indicating it again will be a from-dawn-to-dusk affair . . . Official opening of Gorge Vale's new 19th hole will be held Dec. 17 . . . That new room has certainly added a clot of class to "the working-man's club" . . Before you know it, we'll have Leo Derman greeting visitors wearing white tie and tails . . .

Colleges' Best Back

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Bellino, Navy football version of a depth charge, gained another major award for his collection when he was named college football's "back of the year" for 1960 by United Press International.

SAN FRANCISCO — Sixto Rodriguez, 174, San Anselmo, Calif., stopped Johnny Sullivan, 174, Concord, Calif., 6.

PEDRO'S STILL WAITING FOR THE RIGHT MOUNT

SAN JUAN (AP)—Jockey Pedro Juan Vinales rode his 335th mount in 10 years at Puerto Rico's El Comandante race track Sunday and lost his 335th race. But he is not discouraged.

"Given the right mount I'll win," the 26-year-old jockey said. "I'm not going to retire before I get into the winner's circle."

Pedro has finished second 12 times, been third in 14 races and fourth in 35 others.

Baseball Boss on Spot; AL Insists on LA Shift

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Commissioner Ford Frick has been called upon to make one of baseball's most important decisions.

He must decide whether the American League goes into Los Angeles next year in defiance of the National League and Walter O'Malley, owner of Los Angeles Dodgers.

The American, thwarted by the National in its efforts to include Los Angeles in an expansion program for 1961, put the issue up to Frick Monday night.

"We insist on moving to Los Angeles in 1961," American League president Joe Cronin told the commissioner. "Now it's up to you."

The American League hurled the challenge after the National rejected its proposal to engage in inter-league play next year with each league expanding to nine teams.

"The National League has advised us that nine team inter-league play was not possible in 1961 because Houston is not ready," Cronin said. "Our committee has informed the National League we will waive Rule 1, which calls for unanimous consent of all 16 clubs, and permit it to move into New York in 1961.

"If this proposal is not accepted, the American League has no alternative but to adopt its amendment of Rule 1 to place a team in Los Angeles next year."

Assuming the National stands firm, Frick must decide between the two leagues. The National has said it is willing to allow the American to open shop in Los Angeles but not before 1962.

"I will not be hustled into a quick decision," Frick said. "I will take my time and announce any decision at the joint meeting (of club owners) Wednesday. And I assure you I'll do what's best for baseball."

Unanimous Verdict

NEW YORK (AP)—Tommy Tibbs of Boston Monday night won a unanimous decision over New York's Chico Rollins in a 10-round match at St. Nicholas Arena.

$350 Million Order For Boeing Airliners

NEW YORK (AP)—Eastern Air Lines and United Air Lines have signed contracts to buy a total of 80 three-engined jet airliners from the Boeing Airplane Company for $350,000,000.

The two airlines said they have each ordered 40 short-to-medium-range jet transports that Boeing promised to deliver before the end of 1963.

The deal is one of the biggest in the history of the U.S. transportation industry.

It marked the entry of Boeing into the field of shorter-range jets, which has been dominated by plane manufacturers in Western Europe. It also was the first commitment by a United States aircraft manufacturer to build a three-engined plane with its power plant at the rear of the airframe.

Boeing President William Allen said the plane will be able to carry from 70 to 114 passengers at speeds up to 600 miles an hour. Its range will be from 150 to 1,700 miles.

Twaddle Talk Says Bank Chief

TORONTO (CP) — In the current debatoe about foreign capital in Canada there is a great deal of twaddle talk, A. C. Ashforth, president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank, said today at the bank's annual meeting.

Some of the arguments are emotional, based on a feeling of hurt national pride rather than on economics, he said.

"Many foreign-controlled companies have a record of corporate citizenship better than that of some Canadian companies.

"No one will deny the desirability of Canadians owning a greater share of Canadian industry, but before we take any hasty action to stem the flow of foreign capital or making it feel it is not welcome, let us examine its benefits. Without foreign capital, Canada's economic progress would have been much slower and our standards of living would be lower."

Mr. Ashforth said there are sound arguments why foreign companies should permit Canadian participation in the ownership of firms which they control in Canada, but to offer participation to Canadians might not achieve what it is hoped to accomplish.

"The time has come to call a halt to expansion in welfare expenditures and to devote more of our funds to productive purposes. Stimulation of savings and private investment, rather than boosting public expenditures, is the road to travel," he said.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trade was slow in all grains and export business was quiet today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Oats and barley had routine orders in connection with feed supply. Mainly narrow movements in prices resulted.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat during the last two days were: Germany, 415,000 bushels; United Kingdom, 170,000, and Italy, 160,000.

Class two, IWA and domestic wheat prices, basis Lakehead, were all down ¼ cent from Monday.

CHICAGO (AP)—A generally firm grain futures market cracked open today as profit-taking found weakening resistance on the Board of Trade.

By early afternoon, numerous contracts were on the minus side, some only slightly in a dull trade. Only corn held small gains for all deliveries.

All seated on the ground,
The Angels of the Lord came down,
And glory shone around.

"Fear not," said he, for mighty dread
Had seized their troubled mind;
"Glad tidings of great joy I bring
To you and all mankind.

"To you, in David's town, this day
Is born of David's line
A Saviour, who is Christ the Lord;
And this shall be the sign.

"The heavenly Babe you there shall find
To human view displayed,
All meanly wrapped in swathing bands,
And in a manger laid."

Thus spake the seraph; and forthwith
Appeared a shining throng
Of angels, praising God, who thus Addressed their joyful song:
"All glory be to God on high,
And to the earth be peace;
Goodwill henceforth, from heaven to men
Begin and never cease."

—19—

It Came Upon The Midnight Clear

It came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending near the earth
To touch their harps of gold:
"Peace on the earth, goodwill to men
From heaven's all gracious King."
The world in solemn silence lay
To hear the angels sing.
Still through the cloven skies they come
With peaceful wings unfurled;
And still their heavenly music floats
O'er all the weary world;
Above its sad and lonely plains
They bend on hovering wing,
And ever o'er its Babel-sounds
The blessed angels sing.

Yet with the woes of sin and strife
The world has suffered long;
Beneath the angel-strain have rolled
Two thousand years of wrong;
And men, at war with men, hear not
The words of peace they bring:
O hush the noise, ye men of strife,
And hear the angels sing.

And ye, beneath life's crushing load,
Whose forms are bending low,
Who toil along the arduous way
With painful steps and slow:
Look now, for glad and joyous hours
God's messengers will bring:
O rest beside the weary road
And hear the angels sing.

For lo! The days are hastening on
By prophet-bards foretold,
When with the ever circling years
Comes around the age of gold;
When peace shall over all the earth
Its ancient splendors fling,
And the whole world send back the song
Which now the angels sing.

O Come, All Ye Faithful

O come all ye faithful,
Joyful and triumphant,
Come ye, O come ye to Bethlehem;
Come and behold Him,
Born the King of Angels;

Refrain

O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
Christ the Lord.

True God of true God,
Light of light eternal,
Lo, He abhors not the Virgin's womb,
Son of the Father,
Begotten, not created.

Sing choirs of angels,
Sing in exultation,
Sing, all ye citizens of heaven above,
Sing, ye, all glory
To God in the highest!

Yea, Lord we hail Thee,
Born this happy morning;
Jesus, to Thee be glory given,
Word of the Father,
Now in flesh appearing.

Hark, The Herald Angels Sing

Hark! The herald angels sing,
"Glory to the newborn King,
Peace on earth and mercy mild,
God and sinners reconciled."
Joyful, all ye nations rise,
Join the triumph of the skies;
With angelic hosts proclaim,
"Christ is born in Bethlehem."

Refrain

Hark! The herald angels sing,
"Glory to the newborn King."

Christ, by highest heaven adored,
Christ, the everlasting Lord;
Late in time behold Him come,
Offspring of a Virgin's womb.
Veiled in flesh the Godhead see;
Hail the incarnate Deity.
Pleased as man with man to dwell,
Jesus, our Emmanuel.

Hail the heaven-born Prince of Peace,
Hail the Sun of Righteousness.
Light and life to all He brings,
Risen with healing in His wings.
Mild He lays His glory by,
Born that man no more may die,
Born to raise the sons of earth,
Born to give them second birth.

Angels From The Realms of Glory

Angels from the realms of glory,
Wing your flight o'er all the earth;
Ye who sang creation's story
Now proclaim Messiah's birth;
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the newborn King.

Shepherds in the field abiding,
Watching o'er your flocks by night,
God with man is now residing,
Yonder shines the infant light;
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the newborn King.

Sages, leave your contemplations,
Brighter visions beam afar;
Seek the great desire of nations,
Ye have seen His natal star;
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the newborn King.

Saints before the altar bending,
Watching long in hope and fear,
Suddenly the Lord descending,
In His temple shall appear:
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the newborn King.

Silent Night

Silent night! Holy night!
All is calm, all is bright;
Round yon virgin mother and child
Holy Infant so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace,
Sleep in heavenly peace.

Silent night! Holy night!
Shepherds quake at the sight!
Glories stream from heaven afar,
Heavenly hosts sing Alleluia.
Christ, the Saviour is born!
Christ, the Saviour is born!

Silent night! Holy night!
Son of God, love's pure light
Radiant beams from Thy holy face,
With the dawn of redeeming grace,
Jesus, Lord at Thy birth,
Jesus, Lord at Thy birth.

The First Nowel

The first Nowel the angels did say,
Was to certain poor shepherds in fields as they lay;
In fields where they lay keeping their sheep,
On a cold winter's night, that was so deep.

Refrain:

Nowel, Nowel, Nowel, Nowel,
Born is the King of Israel.

They looked up and saw a star
Shining in the East beyond them far,
And to the earth it gave great light,
And so it continued both day and night.

And by the light of that same star
Three wise men came from country far;
To seek for a King was their intent,
And to follow the star wherever it went.

This star drew nigh to the northwest,
O'er Bethlehem it took its rest,
And there it did both stop and stay
Right over the place where Jesus lay.

Then entered in those wise men three
Full reverently upon their knee,
And offered there in his presence
Their gold and myrrh and frankincense.

Then let us all with one accord
Sing praises to our heavenly Lord;
That hath made heaven and earth of nought,
And with His blood mankind hath bought.

Adeste Fidelis

(Latin Text—English, No. 20)

Adeste, fideles,
Laeti, triumphantes;
Venite, venite in Bethlehem;
Natum videte
Regum angelorum.

Refrain

Venite adoremus, venite adoremus.
Venite adoremus Dominum.

Deum de Deo,
Lumen de lumine
Gestant puellae viscera:
Deum verum,
Genitum non factum.

Centet nunc Io
Chorus angelorum,
Cantet nunc aula coelestium;
Gloria!
In excelsis Deo!

Ergo qui natus
Die hodierna.
Jesus, tibi sit gloria;
Patris aeterni,
Verbum caro factum.

Away In A Manger

Away in a manger, no crib for a bed,
The little Lord Jesus laid down his sweet head;
The stars in the bright sky looked down where He lay,
The little Lord Jesus, asleep on the hay.

The cattle are lowing, the Baby awakes,
But little Lord Jesus no crying He makes;
I love Thee, Lord Jesus; look down from the sky,
And stay by my side until morning is nigh.

Be near me, Lord Jesus, I ask Thee to stay
Close by me forever and love me, I pray;
Bless all the dear children in Thy tender care,
And fit us for heaven to live with Thee there.

O Little Town Of Bethlehem

O little town of Bethlehem,
How still we see thee lie,
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by;
Yet in thy dark streets shineth
The everlasting light,
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tonight.

For Christ is born of Mary;
And, gather'd all above
While mortals sleep, the angels keep
Their watch of wandering love.
O morning stars, together
Proclaim the holy birth
And praises sing of God the King,
And peace to men on earth.

How silently, how silently
The wondrous gift is given,
So God imparts to human hearts
The blessings of His heaven.
No ear may hear His coming,
But in this world of sin,
Where meek souls will receive him still
The dear Christ enters in.

O Holy Child of Bethlehem,
Descend to us, we pray;
Cast out our sin and enter in;
Be born in us today.
We hear the Christmas angels
The great glad tidings tell;
O come to us, abide with us,
Our Lord, Emmanuel.

Christians, Awake!

Christians, awake, salute the happy morn.
Whereon the Saviour of the world was born;
Rise to adore the mystery of love,
Which hosts of angels chanted from above:
With them the joyful tidings first begun,
Of God incarnate and the Virgin's Son.

Then to the watchful shepherds it was told,
Who heard the angelic herald's voice, "Behold,
"I bring good tidings of a Saviour's birth!
"To you and all the nations upon the earth!
"This day hath God fulfill'd His promised word;
"This day is born a Saviour, Christ the Lord."

To Bethl'hem straight the enlightened shepherds ran,
To see the wonders God had wrought for man;
Then to their flocks, still praising God, return,
And their glad hearts with holy rapture burn;
To all the joyful tidings they proclaim—
The first apostles of the Saviour's name.

Oh, may we keep and ponder in our mind
God's wondrous love in saving lost mankind;
Trace we the Babe, who has retrieved our loss,
From the poor manger to the bitter cross:
Tread in His steps, assisted by His grace,
Till man's first heavenly state again takes place.
Then may we hope the angelic hosts among,
To join, redeemed, a glad, triumphant throng;
He that was born upon this joyful day
Around us all his glory shall display.
Saved by His love, incessant we shall sing
Eternal praise to heaven's almighty King.

Brightest And Best

Brightest and best of the sons of the morning,
Dawn on our darkness and lend us Thine aid!
Star of the East, horizon adorning,
Guide where our infant Redeemer is laid.

Cold on His cradle the dewdrops are shining,
Low lies His head with the beasts of the stall:
Angels adore Him in slumber reclining—
Maker and Monarch and Saviour of all!

Say, shall we yield Him, in costly devotion
Odors of Edom and offerings divine?
Gems of the mountains and pearls of the ocean,
Myrrh from the forest and gold from the mine?

Vainly we offer each ample oblation,
Vainly with gifts would his favor secure
Richer by far is the heart's adoration:
Dearer to God are the prayers of the poor.

Brightest and best of the sons of the morning,
Dawn on our darkness and lend us Thine aid!
Star of the East, the horizon adorning,
Guide where our infant Redeemer is laid!

What Child Is This?

(Tune—Greensleeves)

What child is this, who, laid to rest
On Mary's lap is sleeping?
Whom angels greet with anthems sweet
While shepherds watch are keeping.

Refrain:

This, this is Christ the King
Whom shepherds guard and angels sing,
Haste, haste to bring him in
The Babe, the son of Mary.

Why lies he in such mean estate
Where ox and ass are feeding?
Good Christian, fear for sinners here
The silent word is pleading.

So bring him incense, gold and myrrh,
Come peasant, king and own him.
The King of Kings salvation brings
Let loving hearts enthrone him.

—9—

We Three Kings

We three kings of Orient are Bearing gifts; we traverse afar
Field and fountain, moor and mountain
Following yonder star.

Refrain

O star of wonder; star of night,
Star with royal beauty bright,
Westward leading, still proceeding,
Guide us to the perfect light.

Solo (Melchior)

Born a King of Bethlehem's plain,
Gold I bring to crown Him again,
King forever, ceasing never,
Over us all to reign.

Solo (Casper)

Frankincense to offer have I,
Incense owns a Deity nigh;
Prayer and Praising, all men raising,
Worship Him, God most high.

Solo (Balthazar)

Myrrh is mine; its bitter perfume
Breathes a life of gathering gloom;
Sorrowing, sighing, bleeding, dying,
Sealed in the stone-cold tomb.

Glorious now behold Him arise,
King and God and Sacrifice;
Alleluia, alleluia,
Earth to heaven replies.

—10—

Infant Holy

Infant holy, infant lowly,
For His bed, a cattle stall;
Oxen lowing, little knowing
Christ the Babe is Lord of all.
Swift are winging, angels singing,
Nowels ringing, tidings bringing,
Christ the Babe is Lord of all.

Flocks were sleeping, shepherds keeping
Vigil till the morning new
Saw the glory, heard the story,
Tidings of a gospel true.
Thus rejoicing, free from sorrow,
Praises voicing, greet the morrow,
Christ the Babe is Lord of all.

—11—

God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen

God rest you merry, gentlemen,
Let nothing you dismay,
Remember Christ your Saviour
Was born upon this day,
To save us all from Satan's power
When we were gone astray.

Refrain:

O tidings of comfort and joy, comfort and joy,
O tidings of comfort and joy.

In Bethlehem, in Jewry,
This blessed Babe was born,
And laid within a manger
Upon this blessed morn;
The which His mother Mary
Did nothing take in scorn.

From God our Heav'nly Father,
A blessed angel came,
And unto certain shepherds
Brought tidings of the same;
How that in Bethlehem was born
The Son of God by name.

"Fear not then," said the angel,
"Let nothing you affright,
This day is born a Saviour
Of a pure Virgin bright,
To free all those who trust in Him,
From Satan's power and might."

The shepherds, at those tidings,
Rejoiced much in mind,
And left their flocks a-feeding
In tempest storm and wind:
And went to Bethlehem straightway
The Son of God to find.

And when they came to Bethlehem,
Where our dear Saviour lay,
They found Him in a manger,
Where oxen feed on hay;
His mother, Mary, kneeling down,
Unto the Lord did pray.

Now to the Lord sing praises,
All you within this place,
And with true love and brotherhood
Each other now embrace;
This holy tide of Christmas
All other doth efface.

White Christmas

I'm dreaming of a white Christmas
Just like the ones I used to know
Where the tree tops glisten
And children listen to hear sleigh bells in the snow.

I'm dreaming of a white Christmas
With ev'ry Christmas card I write
"May your days be merry and bright
And may all your Christmases be white."

Jingle Bells

Dashing thro' the snow,
In a one-horse open sleigh;
O'er the fields we go,
Laughing all the way;
Bells on bobtail ring,
Making spirits bright;
What fun it is to ride and sing a sleighing song tonight!

Chorus:

Jingle bells, jingle bells,
Jingle all the way!
Oh, what fun it is to ride,
In a one-horse open sleigh!

A day or two ago,
I thought I'd take a ride;
And soon Miss Fannie Bright was seated by my side;
The horse was lean and lank,
Misfortune seem'd his lot,
He got into a drifted bank and then we got upsot!

Now the ground is white,
Go it while you're young;
Take the girls tonight
And sing this sleighing song;
Just get a bobtail'd nag,
Two-forty for his speed,
Then hitch him to an open sleigh and crack! you'll take the lead.

Good King Wenceslas

Good King Wenceslas looked out
On the Feast of Stephen.
When the snow lay round about,
Deep and crisp and even;
Brightly shone the moon that night,
Tho' the frost was cruel,
When a poor man came in sight,
Gath'ring winter fuel.

"Hither, page and stand by me,
If you know'st it, telling,
Yonder peasant, who is he?
Where and what his dwelling?"
"Sire, he lives a good league hence,
Underneath the mountain;
Right against the forest fence,
By St. Agnes' fountain."

"Bring me flesh and bring me wine,
Bring me pine logs hither:
Thou and I will see him dine,
When we bear him thither."
Page and monarch forth they went,
Forth they went together,
Through the rude wind's wild lament,
And the bitter weather.

"Sir, the night is darker now,
And the wind blows stronger;
Fails my heart, I know not how,
I can go no longer."
"Mark my footsteps, good my page;
Tread thou in them bodly;
Thou shalt find the winter's rage
Freeze thy blood less coldly."

A Visit From St. Nicholas

(Tune—Chopsticks)

(1st Strain)

Twas the night before Christmas, and all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse.
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care
In the hope that St. Nicholas soon would be there.

(2nd Strain)

When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter
When what to my wondering eyes should appear
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer.

With a little old driver so lively and quick
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick,
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came
And he whistled and shouted and called them by name.

"Now Dasher! Now Dancer! Now Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet! On Cupid! On Donner and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall,
Now dash away, dash away, dash away all!"

And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head and was turning around
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.

His eyes how they twinkled! His dimples how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry.
He was chubby and plump—a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself.

He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work
And filled all the stockings, then turned with a jerk,
And laying a finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose.

He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle.
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight:
"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good-night."

Here We Come A-Wassailing

Here we come a-wassailing among the leaves so green;
Here we come a-wandering, so fair to be seen.

Refrain

Love and joy come to you and to you our wassail, too,
And God bless you and send you a Happy New Year!

We are not daily beggars that beg from door to door;
But we are neighbor's children whom you have seen before.

We have little purses made of matching leather skin;
We want a little sixpence to line it Well within.

God bless the master of this house, likewise the mistress, too!
And all the little children that round the table go.

Santa Claus Is Coming To Town

Oh, you'd better not pout,
Better not shout,
Better not cry,
I'm telling you why,
Santa Claus is coming to town.

He's making a list,
Checking it twice,
Going to find out
Who's naughty or nice,
Santa Claus is coming to town.

He sees you when you're sleeping,
He knows if you're awake,
He knows is you've been bad or good,
So be good—for goodness sake!

Oh, you'd better watch out,
Better not pout,
Better not cry,
I'm telling you why,
Santa Claus is coming to town.

BUSINESS VIEWS

New Chemical Industry for B.C. Studied

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Possibility of a petrochemical industry being established in B.C. is being surveyed by the provincial department of industrial development, trade and commerce.

Bell

Under study will be the feasibility of setting up facilities for extracting chemicals and raw plastic materials from B.C.'s large reserves of natural gas. Just as the discovery of large quantities of gas led to the development of a multi-million dollar petrochemical industry at Edmonton, it is felt there is a possibility of a similar industry being started in this province.

Department officials will not go so far as to be optimistic about the results of their survey, but they do point out that it is not the sort of thing they would undertake unless they felt there was a reasonable chance of succeeding in getting a new industry established.

Most likely market for a B.C. petrochemical industry would lie in foreign countries such as Japan, China, Hong Kong and other areas where demand for raw plastics is heavy and where plastic fabricating industries are already well established.

A B.C. petrochemical plant, located on tidewater and with access to almost unlimited supplies of natural gas at a reasonable price, would seem to be an attractive industrial prospect which could give a healthy boost to the province's economy.

Plans of Craigmont Mines Ltd. to proceed with development of its copper properties near Merritt have hit a snag with announcement that notice of appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada has been filed in a case contesting validity of some of Craigmont's key claims.

* * *

The appeal is being filed by Contact Mining and Development Co. Ltd. and J. A. Stinson against a judgment of the B.C. Supreme Court which was upheld by the B.C. Court of Appeals in a judgment handed down early last month.

The Contact-Stinson action had asked that Craigmont's Crown leases to certain claims in the Merritt area be set aside on the grounds that some had not been legally staked according to provisions of the mining act and that others had been abandoned by Craigmont.

The action was dismissed by both the Supreme and Appeals Court in judgments which legal opinion held had the effect of restoring the same security of title with respect to mineral leases as existed under the former Crown grant system.

Canada's deepest well — the Calstan Fording Mountain hole 19 miles northwest of Natal, B.C., in the Crowsnest Pass area—has been officially abandoned after being bottomed out and logged at the 16,540 foot level.

The well took 230 days to drill and cost California Standard Oil Company more than $500,000. Commonwealth Drilling Company of Calgary, with an all-Canadian crew, was the contractor for the mountain operation which came within 530 feet of a world record for an uncased hole.

The well is another illustration of the high cost of searching for oil in the rugged mountain areas of western Canada.

Improved efficiency and slightly increased sales volume resulted in increased profits for Western Canada Breweries Ltd. for the year ended Oct. 31, according to the company's annual report.

Earnings were $2,000,289 or $2.42 per share against $1,752,569 or $2.12 a share the previous year. An increase in sales for next year is anticipated by the directors.

The report announced the opening next April of the new plant of O'Keefe Brewing Company in Vancouver and a new warehouse and shipping building for Carling Breweries in Winnipeg next January. Cost of these and other capital expenditures has been met out of retained earnings.

Annual meeting of the company is to be held in Vancouver Jan. 17, immediately following a special meeting to consider a bylaw increasing number of directors from nine to 16 to permit addition of directors from each of the provinces in which the company manufactures and sells its products.

The Nesbitt, Thomson index of dividend payments showed an increase during November to 332.6 compared with the previous month's 323. The increase was attributed to annual dividend rate increases announced by B.C. Power, Canadian Breweries, Canadian Celanese and extras paid by a number of other companies.

Chamber Group Supports Mayor On Ferry Name

Victoria Chamber of Commerce harbor and transport group moved Monday to support Mayor Percy Scurrah in his attempt to have the third B.C. government ferry named MV Victoria.

On the suggestion of Tom Denny, the group decided at a luncheon meeting to ask the Chamber's board of directors to lend its weight to having the new vessel named after the province's capital city. Mr. Denny said that it was only fitting that the capital, and ultimate destination of most ferry passengers, be recognized in this way.

He also pointed out that there is no ship named the Victoria in these waters now and this was a state of affairs which should be remedied.

'TOO MANY MISS COLLEGE'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Thousands of bright young Canadians are being deprived of a university education, says A. Davidson Dunton, president of Ottawa's Carleton University.

Some are barred because of financial reasons, he said, while others live too far from universities.

"If we consider who is going to university at the present time we are falling far short of the ideal," he said in an address Saturday night to the Vancouver Institute.

Mr. Dunton said cost of a university education for students who live in the country is twice that of those who live in cities where universities are located. Out-of-town students should get a reduction in fees or be eligible for bursaries.

MISSING from his regular television show tonight will be comedian Red Skelton. Doctors sent him to hospital for a rest and a checkup.

Satchmo Takes Rest

PARIS (Reuters) — American jazz musician Louis Armstrong flew here Monday after a 40,000-mile African tour and was ordered by his doctor to rest for at least 24 hours. He is to spend about a month in Paris working on a movie.

Smooth Sailing Assured For Polished 'Pinafore'

By TONY DICKASON

According to those who know, the Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society presentation of HMS Pinafore in the Royal Theatre Monday was the most polished G and S offering here to date.

The house wasn't packed, but there was a good turnout, just over 1,000 persons.

It is expected to do better tonight and Wednesday when Pinafore sails again at 8.15.

Scenery, costumes and singing—all excellent, and directing by Tony Nicholson, was especially well done in view of the fact this marked his first main attempt at working the wedding of acting and music.

Tenor Michael Rogers as Ralph combined a happy comedy touch with his delightful voice that held program rustling down to a minimum.

Costumes were colorful, eye-catching, pretty.

Terry French as Josephine evidenced slight nervousness at first but quickly settled into her sweet voice.

The "lass who loved a sailor" received reciprocal audience reaction.

LACK OF VOLUME

A goodly bunch they were, the chorus, particularly when tars and innumerable cousins and aunts combined voices. A certain lack of volume from the male choristers was supplemented in the over-all group.

Here again the comedy touch was most apparent—each white-clad sailor obviously loved his role and the effect was relaxed pleasure to watch.

IT'S NOT EASY

G and S is not easy to sing and credit is due to musical director Stanley Hoban and members of the Victoria Symphony, who adequately formed the musical rigging for sailors and lassies to climb.

Top performances were turned in by Eleanor Duff as Buttercup, Norman Tyrrel as Captain Corcoran and Ellis Todd as Sir Joseph Porter, who, as everybody knows, was the ruler of the queen's "navee."

Among guests was Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes, VC, and Mrs. Pearkes.

It was a delightful evening.

An odd thing about G and S, just about the time you are laughing, the beauty of certain passages catches, unawares, and it can be a sobering and appealing sensation.

Southerners Not Prepared To Integrate

MONTREAL (CP)—Despite well-meaning efforts by northerners, the South is not ready for integration, says Tennessee humorist and raconteur Rufus Garman.

"What the United States government should do is to set up a special department to encourage the Negroes to help themselves," the newspaper man turned entertainer said in an interview.

In Montreal for a two-week engagement at a downtown hotel, he said the average Negro in the South is not capable of competing in the white man's market.

"Many of them are quite happy the way they are. Most don't want to go to school with the white man, live in filthy surroundings and are not overly eager to work."

'LITTLE PRAYER . . . THERE IT WAS'

By TONY DICKASON

Aluminum sculpture weighing 630 pounds will soon grace the front lawn of the Victoria Art Gallery.

It is abstraction, "Figures in Architecture."

The work, made and created under a Canada Council grant, consists of eight individual pieces, assembled to 6 feet 4 inches in length and 4 feet 3 inches high.

ANCHOR

The piece will be firmly anchored, to eliminate interference by vandals.

Creator is John Ritchel, 1740 Lands End Road, whose "pilot" model of the huge casting was selected over 16 other submissions for the $1,500 Canada Council grant.

Mr. Ritchel works in the basement of his waterfront home and has lived with the project more than a year.

IN NEW YORK

He studied sculpture in Vancouver and New York. His full-time job is attending to plants at the Dominion Experimental Farm in Saanichton.

The cubist configurations of the sculpting symbolize modern architecture.

The big aluminum casting job, one of the largest attempted in Victoria, was done by E. J. Chandler and J. S. Gibson, who operate a foundry on the Island Highway.

CREATORS of artistic piece are, from left, E. J. Chandler, the sculptor, John Ritchel, and J. S. Gibson. Mr. Chandler and Mr. Gibson carried out the aluminum casting job. The pieces have yet to be assembled.

★ ★ ★

The silvery blocks will likely be welded together by a Victoria shipyard.

Cost of the aluminum was about $700.

How did Mr. Ritchel decide on the type of project?

"I just sort of became quiet in my mind, perhaps made a little prayer, and there it was."

It is certainly individualistic.

The artist believes in his work to the point of stating "I'm hardened to all sorts of comment and criticism."

Arena Decision Nears After Marathon Talks

Mulliner Promises Early Statement

Memorial Arena Commission wound up eight hours of closed talks at noon today without revealing the results.

The commission met for six hours Monday night, resumed the discussion for two hours this morning and decided to hold a committee meeting this afternoon.

"There will be a statement made by tomorrow, maybe sooner," said chairman Frank Mulliner. "It will go to the mayor."

He would not comment on the commission meetings.

"SUGGESTION"

The sessions followed an extra-ordipary meeting between city council and the commission Saturday at which it was "suggested" to the commission that it reinstate all six employees who quit in September and precipitated the resignation crisis.

Mayor Percy Scurrah indicated that council could go no further than suggesting a solution to the stalemate because the commission had sole right to manage arena affairs.

Today the mayor said he had not received any communication from the commission "yet."

"It must have been a controversial session to have lasted that long but I haven't received any information," he said.

NO CONTACT

Kenneth Noakes, former office manager who led the resignation and current storm centre of the hassle, said he had not been contacted by the arena.

(Saturday's session largely involved a debate whether or not Mr. Noakes should be reinstated along with the other five employees until a new manager is hired to replace Joe Dukowski.)

E. E. Pearlman, lawyer for the six employees, also said he had "not heard a word" from the commission since Saturday.

Secure Sounds Of Deterrence As City Sleeps

By MONTE ROBERTS

In the silence of the night, when traffic noises have died away and the only sounds are the normal ones of sleep, many a Victoria resident has wakened briefly to a deep booming far overhead.

The aroused sleeper may wonder vaguely what aircraft is droning along, and on what mission.

Chances are very good that it is a giant United States Air Force B-52, the long-ranging, nuclear-load-packing backbone of the Strategic Air Command, on an airborne mission of deterrence.

REFUELLING

It is possible, too, that the big bomber is taking on a new load of fuel from one of the USAF KC-135 tanker planes, so that its vigil aloft will not be interrupted.

An air force spokesman from the McChord, Wash., base said today that "frequent" exercises were carried out over Vancouver Island, with NORAD jet fighters carrying out simulated intercepting manoeuvres against the bombers.

The fighters are also sent out on unscheduled scrambles, to test radar warning lines.

At least one Victoria resident is quite happy to have his sleep disturbed by the United States airmen.

Writing to the Times, he said: "As I lie in bed, I hear what I am certain is the sound of KC-135s and B-52s over Victoria, engaged in the business of re-fueling—and I go back to sleep secure in the thought that the men of the Kremlin must view a nuclear exchange as somewhat unattractive."

'Blue Yonder' Cameramen Meet in City

Aerial photographers from the Pacific Northwest met here today to discuss their science and new techniques.

About 50 delegates were expected to register for the annual conference of the Puget Sound region of the American Society of Photogrammetry. Photogrammetry is the science of aerial photography and its interpretation.

The meeting is being held in conjunction with the 51st Western Forestry Conference, which opens at the Empress Wednesday.

Preliminary meetings of committees on pest control, reforestation and forest fires were held today.

More than 500 forestry officials from Government and industry are expected to attend the three-day conference.

The photogrammetry meeting is discussing use of aerial photos in map making, forestry, highways and railways.

C. O. Brawner of the B.C. highways department this afternoon was to speak on how aerial pictures help in studying landslides. E. H. Lyons of the B.C. Forest Service spoke on helicopter stereo photography, and a lands department study on the difference between aerial and ground measurements was also to be presented.

Two Charged In Vic West Store Theft

Two men were charged in city police court today with burglary and theft at a Victoria West grocery following reports of early morning break-ins at two stores.

Michael Coles, 19, Scott Street, pleaded guilty to breaking, entering and theft at Shearing's Food Market, 810 Catherine, where police said $357 worth of groceries, hardware, cameras, watches and 300 packages of cigarets were stolen.

Courtney McMillan, 35, Douglas Street, pleaded not guilty to the same charge and both were remanded to Dec. 14, the first for probation report and sentence, McMillan for trial.

Police went to the store when someone reported three youths in a red pickup truck breaking the front door glass.

One person was found inside the store and another was stopped driving a truck on Catherine.

Twenty minutes earlier, R. Rawnsley, 778 Dominion, said he chased three youths from Bennett's Grocery Store, 1137 Dominion, after a window was smashed out.

MEN CATCH SUSPECT IN PROWLING

Naval seaman William N. Aller was charged in city police court today with theft under $50 value after two men caught a prowler rifling their cars in a downtown parking lot at 1.05 a.m.

Aller was remanded on $250 bail to Thursday for plea.

Sid Anderson, 3311 Linwood, and Frank Wright, 2731 Mount Stephen, told police their cars were in Moose Lodge parking lot off Cormorant Street.

When they went to them they disturbed a prowler and found a box of mechanic's tools and vacuum cleaner missing from Anderson's car; a fishing rod and paper seal gone from Wright's.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Are B.C. car licences issued according to district and if so what is the number range for Victoria and district? G.M.

A. As a general rule, yes. However, there is nothing to prevent a car owner obtaining his licence from other than the district in which he lives. There are 38 main licence issuing offices in B.C. and 40 sub-offices. Victoria, as the capital, has first choice of plates and for this district licence numbers range from "1" to around "70,000."

Q. Which is correct: Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Family or The John Smith Family? E.W.D.

A. You are probably thinking of addressing Christmas cards. The former is correct.

Q. Is the chihuahua the smallest dog or is there a smaller breed? P.T.

A. It's the smallest. Grown dogs can weigh as little as one pound.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealer.

Mrs. James Barr, 965 Trans-Canada Highway, was feeding the ducks behind her home when a Canada goose swooped down and snatched a piece of bread from a butterball duck.

The tiny duck then dived below the water and came up underneath the goose. This upset his balance so much that he flew away—and the duck, of course, recovered his prize.

MAYOR'S TRIP TO OTTAWA CALLED OFF

Mayor Percy Scurrah today said he will not go to Ottawa at the present time.

The mayor was authorized by aldermen last week to lead a delegation in an effort to obtain federal financial assistance for off-street parking developments.

But a letter from the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities has changed the situation, the mayor said after a meeting today.

"Our representative has been very busy and after receiving his letter I don't think it would be advisable to go at the present time—maybe later but not now.

"It doesn't appear as though it would be fruitful."

Council has not revealed yet the specific proposal it hoped to put before the federal government.

New Party Lays Plans For City Club

B.C.'s second New Party club will be formed in Victoria in the next few days.

The groundwork was laid Monday night when national New Party club organizer R. Desmond Sparham addressed a small meeting at the home of Marney Stevenson, 316 Moss.

First New Party club was started in Esquimalt-Saanich Sunday.

"We decided to form a club," Mrs. Stevenson said today.

"It will be on the same basis as the Esquimalt-Saanich one—composed of independent liberals with a small "l."

She said the club will not consist of CCF and trade union representatives.

"These clubs will be a third segment which will go into the New Party with them when it is formed next summer," she said.

LOTS HERE

"There should be a lot of independent liberals in Victoria," she said.

About 22 attended the Esquimalt-Saanich meeting Sunday. They hope that the CCF and labor will join them in picking a New Party candidate for the Esquimalt-Saanich byelection.

The CCF has set a nominating convention Dec. 14. New Party club members are expected to attend.

First 'Count Here Today For TCA

Trans-Canada Air Lines Flight 143 made history at Patricia Bay Airport today.

It brought in the first load of passengers on a turbo-prop Viscount aircraft when it landed at 11.30 a.m. The plane flew on to Seattle and then was scheduled to make the return trip to Victoria and Vancouver later in the day.

"We're putting the Viscounts in for a certain number of flights per week until we go all-Viscount on Jan. 2," said district agent Robert Kolb.

The intermittent flights will be flown by the chief pilot and regular pilots on the Victoria run to familiarize themselves fully with the change. All of them have flown passengerless training flights with Viscounts on the run previously.

The half-hour run between Victoria and Vancouver will be cut by five minutes when the Viscounts replace the five familiar DC-3s on the run. The new craft will carry up to 54 passengers.

Highway Crisis Faces California Says Gaglardi

California faces "a real crisis" in highways within 20 years, B.C.'s Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi said today.

Mr. Gaglardi last week visited Sacramento, capital of the state, to confer with California highways officials on ideas and administration.

"Their problem is that with their car population, the highways are deteriorating faster than they can keep them up,' he said.

"By 1980 they will be facing a real crisis."

B.C. with a much smaller population actually has a greater highway network and spends more per capita on its roads than California, he claimed.

Bids Called On Homes For Elderly

Tenders have been called for the second of 15 planned units in the Gorge View Society's low-rent housing development for senior citizens.

The project is expected to provide about three months work this winter during construction of a six-suite frame building.

Two suites will be for couples and four for single persons. A similar unit was erected about a year ago.

The society, sponsored by the United Church in Canada, owns a five-acre site on Irma between Balfour and Harriet on which it hopes to establish a development housing 132 senior citizens when complete.

Supervising architects Wade, Stockdill & Armour will open bids for the project Dec. 21, and work is expected to start early next year.

Cost of the development is split three ways among the society, the provincial government and the board of social service of the United Church.

Two Sailors Hurt As Car Wrecked

Two naval seamen were taken to HMCS Naden Hospital with minor injuries after their car was wrecked on E and N Railway tracks off Admirals Road at 1.20 a.m.

Driver-owner Hans R. Haugen, HMCS Fraser, was treated for a hand cut, and Peter Rafferty, also of Fraser, was admitted with head and possible back injury.

Colwood RCMP said their 1953 car was a total loss.

The men were driving south on Admirals and had reached a curve near Plumper Bay when the car went off the west side of the road, through the bush and overturned, landing on its side on the E and N main line, a short drop below the road.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Eighteen Christmas trees in decorated pots, a project of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, were placed in position today on Yates Street between Douglas and Government. The 10-foot trees, which will be decorated with lights later in the week, are being put up by the Chamber this year as a trial street decoration venture. If the plan is successful it will be extended to other blocks next year.

JUST PHONE FOR RIDE TO POLLS

Oak Bay Kiwanis Club is again organizing a motor pool for residents to get out and vote during Thursday's municipal elections.

The pool will be in the hands of the club's community service committee and will operate between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. Oak Bay voters wanting transportation to the polls should contact the municipal hall, EV 5-8711.

Oak Bay to Fill Three Seats And Vote on Council Indemnity

Four contestants will seek three seats on Oak Bay council Thursday.

Ratepayers will also vote on a referendum asking if they favor annual indemnities being paid council.

Voting will be at one poll only, the Municipal Hall, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. An advance poll was held today and will be held again Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the same place.

Seeking election are three incumbent councillors and a newcomer to civic politics.

Standing are Fred Hawes, lumber company president and seven years on council; Fred Robinson, contractor, a veteran of eight years on council; John Watts, an engineer, who has served one and one-half years.

Newcomer is Harry Gregson, publisher of the Oak Bay Leader and founder of the Oak Bay Board of Trade.

Under the referendum pay for the reeve would be $3,600 and for councillors $1,200.

EXPENSES

At present the reeve receives an expense allowance of $60 monthly and councillors each get $20.

On the salary question, Mr. Hawes favors a slight upward adjustment; Mr. Robinson believes council and reeve are worth the full amount obtainable under the terms of the Municipal Act; Mr. Watts favors indemnities also while Mr. Gregson believes $600 for council pay would not be unreasonable.

Butterflies From Far East Centre Bamboo Ashtrays

By PENNY SAVER

Browsing in a downtown store this week, curiosity wouldn't let me rest until I'd discovered what it was that was drawing woman shoppers to one particular counter. Objects of interest were bamboo ash trays that had been imported from the Far East.

Reason for the lively interest was fact that each is centred with real butterflies from the far-off country. In all, there are six different types of butterflies available. Lovely colors of wings are shown to advantage against a silvered background that hints of mother of pearl. Ash trays are finished with a trellised border of bamboo and sell for 98 cents.

No homemaker ever has enough pillow slips. 'Special' on these in one store will give you the opportunity to stock up on them and get some as gifts for special friends. Formerly priced at $3.95, they're now selling at $2.69.

Snowy white pillow slips are generously decorated with hand cutwork. While most of cutwork is in pale blue some slips have appliques in pastel shades of pink, yellow and green for extra color interest.

Small children will find inspiration for Mummy's gift in tinkling wind chimes.

Priced within the pocket-money range of even the smallest toddler they're available at 59 cents, 79 cents and 98 cents, depending on size. Suspended from red metal tops are jingling glass streamers. These vary in shape and all have gay floral designs painted on them. If you've been noticing worried frowns on the children's faces as they anxiously ask, "What would you like for Christmas, Mummy?"—leave this part of the paper where they're bound to see it!

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You Can Be Pregnant And Well-Groomed, Too

Lowman

Some women have a tendency to become careless about their grooming and about their appearance in general when they are pregnant. They feel that they cannot look attractive or wear any of their good - looking clothes and so there is a letdown in personal pride.

This is a great mistake for several reasons. In the first place you probably were never so tenderly cherished and loved by your husband as during this time. It is a magic time for both of you and it is a shame not to look your prettiest.

Then, too, as her figure loses its usual lines, the pregnant woman needs all the help she can get if she is not to look sloppy. She should give her hair and skin and nails special care. She usually has time for this during the nine months of pregnancy because she is taking things a little easier.

Clothes for the expectant mother are so much more comfortable and so much more attractive today than they were a few years ago. Most women like the two-piece maternity dress best. These are more comfortable and more flattering than the one-piece dress which may pull up high in front. Of course you know that dresses and skirts designed for this time have adjustable belts and fronts.

There is another reason for maintaining good grooming and an interest in clothes and that is the lift it gives your morale. While having a baby is a perfectly natural process it does sometimes bring minor discomforts and a tendency to tire easily. A woman can sail through these much more easily if she is not too discouraged by the way she looks.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Care During Pregnancy and Reconditioning After Childbirth" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 21. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

DEAR ABBY

This Is a Sport?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I just don't understand my husband. I am 21 and he is 24, and listen to this. We can be sound asleep at 3 in the morning and if a fire engine goes by our house he jumps up, dresses fast and asks me to hurry up so we can go see the fire. I have done this a few times but I have told him I am not doing it any more because we both work and I need my sleep. We have the biggest fights over this because I say it's childish and he says it's not. Can you settle it?

POOR SPORT.

DEAR POOR SPORT: Chasing fires is a very dangerous sport. Curious spectators frequently block traffic and impede the efforts of firemen. If your husband is interested in helping at the scene of a fire, he should take the necessary training and become a volunteer fireman.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My little brother learned a Thanksgiving prayer at school and he said it at the table. My father didn't even bow his head, he just started right in eating. I said, "Daddy, you should bow your head and wait for the prayer to be over with before you start eating". And, Abby, I said it real nice, but he sent me away from the table and I didn't get any Thanksgiving dinner. My mother said that my father was trying to teach me respect for my elders but I think respect for the Lord comes first. Don't you?

THANKSGIVING SPOILED.

DEAR THANKSGIVING SPOILED: I do, but didn't the Lord also say, "Honor thy father and mother"?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am sick and tired of being a "good sport" about my husband's ex-wife. They've been divorced 12 years and she still sends him Christmas gifts just to let him know she is still in the picture. I have always put her gift away until after Christmas, as I felt it doesn't belong in OUR celebration. Next year should I return her gift to the store from which it was purchased or send it back to her?

PRESENT WIFE.

DEAR PRESENT: How does your husband feel about this? The gifts are his. You have no right to return (or even "put away") packages addressed to him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "TIN GRIN" that I am 13, fairly attractive and well liked. I also wear braces, and have since last June, and it hasn't hurt my popularity any. It seems in our school if you haven't got freckles, braces, glasses or pimples, you're out of style.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Oakley and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cockell, all of North Vancouver.

Rev. Frank Patterson officiated, assisted by Rev. Wesley Bray. Church was decorated with white chrysanthemums, white candles and candelabra.

Future Queen of Belgians Noblewoman in Own Right

MADRID (Reuters) — Dona Fabiola Mora, the 32-year-old auburn-haired Spanish noblewoman who weds King Baudouin of Belgium Dec. 15, comes of a wealthy family whose titles date from the last century and whose riches have come mainly from banking.

Fabiola is the daughter of the second Count Mora, who also was the fourth Marquis of Casa Riera. The second Marquis of Casa Riera was a banker and he left a fortune when he died in 1915 at the age of 92.

The Moras are not one of Spain's great feudal families. But they are wealthy and of high social standing. Neither title carries with it grandeeship of Spain, the hallmark of the old-established, leading aristocratic houses.

The dowager Countess of Mora, mother of Fabiola, belongs to a noble family of Navarre, in northern Spain, whose lineage runs back nearly 1,000 years.

MASS EACH MORNING

Quiet and ordered indeed was the life of this slender young noblewoman before King Baudouin entered it. Her day began with daily mass and holy communion at the church of Santa Barbara, near Madrid's law courts.

She would walk back to her apartment—she has lived with her personal maid, Violeta, and a cook in an apartment of her own for about a year—and breakfast lightly on buttered toast with marmalade and tea.

Then she would see needy people who came to her home to ask for help or, occasionally, go with other noblewomen to scrub floors or peel potatoes or wash or feed the patients at a Madrid hospital.

On other days, she would help at a home for old people run by nuns in another part of Madrid.

Then there were visits, though not frequent, to her dressmaker and her milliner.

Fabiola weighs 123 pounds. Her height is five feet seven inches.

She often goes to lunch with her mother, who lives in the family mansion on Zurbano Street. She likes steaks rare and also has a taste for solid Basque country dishes of northern Spain such as boiled codfish with green peas.

Fabiola often attended the evening service of benediction at some church nearby, and after that would return home. She rarely went to receptions or cocktail parties, and would spend the evening writing letters, knitting or reading.

Her father, Count Mora, died in 1957 after a fall down some steps in a church in Madrid.

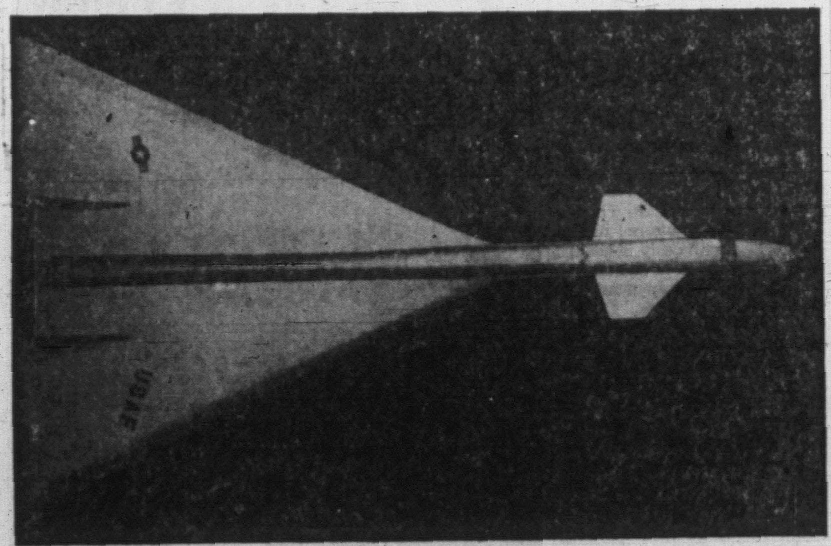
FASTER THAN THE EARTH

Slowed for a while by a spending cut, work is now progressing on the U.S. Air Force's B-70 Valkyrie bomber. Photos of wind tunnel models, above and below, show the plane's unusual streamlined shape. Like the Wrights' original craft, the B-70 will fly with its tail in front—but with a difference. It will be powered by six huge jet engines in the rear and be capable of 2,000 m.p.h. at altitudes up to 100,000 feet. It will fly faster than the earth revolves. It will be capable of flying 8,000 miles nonstop and could make a Los Angeles to Moscow hop in three hours. Being constructed by North American Aircraft, the first B-70 is expected to fly in 1963, forerunner of a planned fleet of 250 Valkyries. Cost of development for the first model: One billion dollars.



FLIRTIN' CURES HURTIN'

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI) — A British doctor has advised jaded businessmen to pack up their troubles by reaching for a blonde or brunette instead of a cigaret.

Dr. Alistair Mackinnon, 45, the father of five grown children, put forth his "Don't smoke—flirt" theory in the medical magazine The Practitioner.

His opinion is that a light romance is the ideal way to make a man forget routine troubles.

"I would not suggest flirtation as an alternative to smoking for younger men," he hastened to add. "That could be dangerous."

He advised young men to take up chess or beer drinking perhaps simultaneously with a series of "platonic" friendships.

Dr. Mackinnon, who is a non-smoker, amplified on this:

"People look upon smoking as a tranquilizer. For the man over 40 who shouldn't smoke for health reasons I think flirting is a suitable alternative," he said.

"Smoking is said to be a sign of emotional immaturity. This feeling of uncertainty could be counteracted by a pleasant emotional relationship like a flirtation.

His view was not entirely shared by the opposite sex.

Housewife Audrey Tebble was asked by this reporter what she would do if her husband gave up cigarets for romantic flirtations.

"I'd wallop him," she said.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Michael Scott Poe, age 12, of National City, Calif., for his question:

Why is carbon 14 used to tell the age of things?

Carbon 14 is the dramatic step-brother of ordinary carbon, which is carbon 12. Ordinary carbon is present in all plant and animal cells and necessary to all living things. It is present in the air as carbon dioxide. The normal carbon atom has six protons and six neutrons. The six protons give it the atomic number six, which belongs to carbon and no other element. The six protons and six neutrons give it the atomic weight of 12. About one carbon atom in a trillion, however, has eight neutrons with its six protons. This rare atom is carbon 14.

Wherever we find ordinary carbon, we also find a few atoms of rare carbon 14. And carbon 14, also called radiocarbon, is radioactive. A radioactive atom is unstable and is in the process of breaking down into something more simple. Some of these substances are dangerous to handle. When you learn that you eat radiocarbon with your food and breathe it from the air you may be scared. But living creatures have been doing this since the earth began and until a few years ago, nobody suspected it. Radiocarbon was taken up with ordinary carbon by plants and animals living millions of years ago. Traces of it were built into every cell, every bone, every leaf and every splinter of wood. Wherever there was carbon, there were traces of radiocarbon.

Formed by Atom Collision

All radioactive substances decay, or break down, at a certain rate, so fast and no faster. In exactly 5,600 years, the original radiocarbon in a fossil will be cut to half. In another 5,600 years, this remainder will be cut in half. We say that 5,600 years is the half life of radiocarbon. Meantime the ordinary carbon in the fossil specimen does not change. A delicate instrument called the ion counter records the amount of radiocarbon in a specimen. When we know this, we know how long the radioactive substance has been decaying and this gives us the age of the specimen.

Radiocarbon in the air forms when a high speed neutron crashes into an atom of nitrogen. The nitrogen gains an extra neutron, but loses one of its protons, which makes it a top-heavy atom of carbon. This radiocarbon is being made constantly and may be caused by cosmic rays. As old radiocarbon decays, more is formed. In living things, the ratio of carbon and radiocarbon remains fairly constant.

When the life process stops, no more fresh carbon is taken in by the plant or animal. The normal carbon in the tissues remains the same. The radiocarbon begins to decay.

* * *

Andy sends a Hammond's Library World Atlas to Helen Smith, age 10, of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, for her question:

In what direction does the earth rotate?

Our earth is a big ball suspended in space. Around us the vast heavens stretch far and wide in all directions. As the earth turns on its axis, we face first one view of the starry sky and then another. In 24 hours we turn clear around in a circle. This is why the stars, the sun and the moon seem to parade over the sky.

The heavenly parade starts out at the eastern horizon. All the heavenly bodies rise in the east, climb up and arch over the sky, and sink down to set in the west. This is because the earth is forever turning to meet the eastern horizon. Our big globe, then, rotates always towards the east.

NEW YORK — Bobby Darin has turned humble.

Shakes you up, doesn't it? But after marrying that "beautifully refreshing young lady"—Sandra Dee, 18—Bobby no longer delighted in hearing people everywhere saying that Bobby Darin was "a dirty so-and-so."

"I have a strange desire to reform," Bobby said, puffing his pipe after dinner at 21 the other night. "Suddenly your values change. I have now met a human being more important than I am."

Darin fans will be shocked. Just when he was doing so well as an 18-karat louse, love softened him. However, there are still times when he's his old self.

Bobby, who's 24, will do his own TV spec January 30 and return to the Copa in February

SLAYED SON

'God-Inspired' Murderer Held Insane

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A 44-year-old Newfoundland fisherman who said he sacrificed his son after receiving "orders from God in the rushing wind" Monday was declared unfit to stand trial for murder on grounds of insanity.

A 12-man jury, sitting to decide Herbert Sheppard's sanity, took only 10 minutes to reach a verdict. The round-faced, sturdily-built fisherman from Embree, Nfld., appeared unmoved.

He will be returned to the mental asylum where he had been detained for observation since the windy afternoon of October 1, when he went fishing off Embree in Notre Dame Bay in a small open boat with his four-year-old son, Terry.

The jury heard the story of how the boy's throat was slashed with a knife, and his body left in the boat at the Embree dock.

Albert Collins, one of Sheppard's neighbors, said that Sheppard admitted killing the boy. On the day of the killing, he had asked Sheppard, father of nine children, to help him move some gas tanks from across the bay.

When they arrived at the dock, Collins said, Sheppard pointed to the boat containing the boy's body. "This is Terry. I killed him in the will of the Lord," he told Collins.

The executive committee of the Victoria Horticultural Society will meet next Monday at the City Hall to discuss flower shows to be held in 1961.

OPEN SUNDAYS BACKED IN ONTARIO ELECTIONS

Charlotte 'Comeback Queen'

By The Canadian Press

Ontario municipal elections Monday produced a mayoralty record in the provincial capital, some notable comebacks, a few upsets and a strong trend towards a more open Sunday.

Silver-thatched Nathan Phillips, 68-year-old veteran of the banquet circuit and many a council-room battle, was returned in Toronto for a two-year term that will give him a record eight consecutive years in office.

Charlotte Whitton was the comeback queen. She returned to the mayor's chair she vacated four years ago in Ottawa to become a newspaper columnist, defeating three men who sought to succeed retiring Mayor George Nelms.

Bob Simpson, star end of the Ottawa Rough Riders football team, was elected to Ottawa city council.

Simpson won a handy victory in the race for alderman in Wellington ward, one of the city's 10 wards.

All told, 18 Ontario cities voted. Four acclaimed their mayors, five re-elected them and nine voted in new mayors.

MOVIES FAVORED

A Sunday sport bylaw and a plebiscite on Sunday movies accompanied the ballot paper in many centres, big and small. Voters favored the movies in all but two cases—Kitchener and Newmarket—and went for Sunday sport in six of 12 municipalities.

Brantford, Niagara Falls and neighboring Stamford Township, Windsor, Alexandria, Oshawa, Toronto and Cornwall favored the movies Cornwall by almost 3 to 1—although it will require provincial legislation to translate the voters' wishes into fact.

Sunday sport—only municipal bylaws are required to make it legal—won in Brantford; Wallaceburg, Eastview, Fort Frances and the Toronto suburban townships of North York and Scarborough. It failed to carry in Ottawa, Guelph, St. Thomas, Peterborough, Woodstock and Newmarket.

In Eastview, scathingly criticized last month in a report by the Ontario municipal affairs department, the entire slate of nine councillors was defeated.

GRID STAR WINS

Among the larger cities, Mayor Michael Patrick picked up his third two-year term in Windsor. Hamilton acclaimed Mayor Lloyd Jackson earlier.

Miss Whitton, 64, defeated three men to fill the $15,200-a-year, two-year job as Ottawa mayor.

Miss Whitton, who kept in the spotlight by many public appearances and writing a newspaper column in the interval, defeated controller Sam Berger, 60, a lawyer and president of the Big Four Football Union; controller Ernest Jones, 50, an insurance agent; and Lucien Dube, 62, retired school teacher. The final tally: Whitton, 35,638; Berger, 33,822; Jones, 9,317; Dube, 2,673.

In Toronto, Mrs. Jean Newman, a grandmother who headed the poll among candidates for board of control two years ago, trailed far behind victorious Mayor Phillips.

DO YOU THINK this vase of summer flowers were grown in Victoria in December? You're right. Roses, snapdragons, daisies make a pretty parcel of posies for Margaret Laycock, 4186 Elizabeth. Flowers were brought to Woodward's Florists, Fort Street, by proud gardener Mrs. A. Darcus-Hodder, 2841 Dewdney, where they now make out-of-season adornment.

'New Party Won't Be Labor-Bossed'

The labor movement will not dominate the New Party, one of its organizers said here Monday.

R. Desmond Sparham, who has helped found some 50 New Party clubs across Canada, said the trade unions are only one medium of support for a new "left of centre" party.

He envisages a two-party Canada, with the New Party on one side and the Liberal or Conservative party on the other, representing conservatism.

"There is a great number of people with a deep sense of national ineffectiveness," said Mr. Sparham.

"They represented liberalism—small "l"—which he described as the true left element.

MIDDLE CLASS

He said members of the New Party clubs include many "professional middle class people". In Toronto there are clubs composed entirely of doctors, engineers and insurance men; the first club had six farmers for members.

Mr. Sparham said it is not true that the New Party will be a merger or marriage with the CCF and labor. They are two-thirds of its components. The other third is the great masses of left-inclined persons who have so far been unable to align themselves politically.

However, critics of the New Party are trying to discredit it by saying it will be labor dominated.

Mr. Sparham said the clubs he has helped form and the CCF "will live only until the founding of the New Party" next summer.

He said he hoped the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election candidate is a New Party man. It is up to the CCF, labor and the left-inclined liberals to get together, he said. If the party were already in existence "this would be one of the times we would win" like the October 24 victory in Peterborough, Ont.

Trustees Go Easy

A delegation of school trustees saw the B.C. cabinet Monday afternoon—but their demands were few and uncontroversial.

A. M. Harvey of Ocean Falls, president of the B.C. School Trustees' Association, said after the meeting the question of the Chant Royal Commission report on education and the current wage negotiations with teachers were not discussed.

The government received the Chant Report in October and its release is awaited eagerly, as it is expected to contain extensive recommendations on educational policy.

Main concern of the trustees, said Mr. Harvey, was to obtain a raise for provincial district superintendents.

He said they lag about $300 a year behind comparable civil service employees, and in many cases get lower pay than school principals in their areas.

Of teachers' salary negotiations, he said: "We're doing very nicely as the trustees' association, thank you."

The trustees presented the cabinet with resolutions passed at their annual convention in October. Among them was a request that a uniform teacher pay increment formula be set for all B.C. in an attempt to standardize pay.

PLAXTON—In loving memory of Geo. A. Plaxton, who passed away Dec. 6, 1958.

The face I loved is now laid low
His loving voice is still.
The hand so often clasped in mine,
Lies now in death's cold chill.
I often sit and think of him
When I am all alone.
For the memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.

—Lovingly remembered by his wife, Myrtle Annie.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

Look at the North and South hands only and plan your whole play before following to the five of spades opening lead. You first note that you have two sure spade tricks if you play low from dummy and may only have one if you play the queen, so you will play low. You also see enough tricks for your contract and one or two extra if you have time to play both hearts and clubs. But there is one danger of failure. If the club finesse loses, West may get the lead after both your spade stoppers have been knocked out and set you.

Opening lead—♠ 5

Can you guard against this? The answer is that you can and here is the sure thing play.

Play the four of spades from dummy. If East plays the king you duck and win the continuation in dummy. Then lead a heart to your king. If it holds the trick, abandon the heart suit and try the club finesse. It will lose but now you have one heart trick in, and this trick added to four clubs, two spades and two diamonds makes the nine you need for your contract.

If the ace wins the first heart trick and another spade is led, your last stopper will be gone, but it won't matter. You will lose the club finesse and East will be in with the king, but there will be no way for West to get in to make his two spades.

David Susskind's 'Open End' Explores Comedy for Hour at 10

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

CATCHING UP—Surely it would take a mathematician of no mean merit to add up the number of times Frank Nitti has "died" in the Untouchables series—certainly any old nine-lifer cat would turn dog with envy . . . regrets from this corner to CHEK-TV's Andy Stephen who, I understand, caught a severe cold the other day on the Willi Taylor Show. No, not in the head. . . .

Why I continue to watch Michael Shayne's hour Friday nights is more than I know. Of course it may be because they don't confuse my wife who usually identifies the killer before they have even listed the cast . . . Wednesday night's edition of Naked City's crimer called "The Human Trap" and starring capable Ruth Roman left me more luke than warm—one of the series' few floperoos . . . the same night I thought Garry Moore to be above Paar but somewhat below par on his I've Got a Secret—appeared to be pushing too hard. . . .

Still on the subject of Moore: I was reading the other day that French flash Annie Farge, who is cutting such a swath with her "Angel" comedy, was giving her bosses some concern language-wise. It seems that when they were reviewing some of her rushes they realized that their Annie was mending her captivating broken-English accent all too quickly for the good of the show. Soon locked her up with a femme who could speak only French. . . .

Why does the CBC have to choose such blood-chilling titles for such sound programs as Nathan Cohen's Encounter and Explorations? For me, at least, they do nothing to stimulate the imagination. . . .

Two famous stories—W. Somerset Maugham's "A String of Beads" and J. P. Marquand's "Immortality Becomes Allard"—will be presented in two full-hour NBC-TV color specials on the series "Story of Love" during January . . . Bob Hope and Jimmy Durante will engage in a "Battle of Noses" on Hope's next special, Dec. 12. . . .

★ ★ ★

WHITE HOUSE PRESS Secretary James Hagerty, General Walter Bedell Smith and Col. Robert L. Schulz will be among the prominent figures who will appear on "Tribute to a Patriot," a full-hour special examining the life and career of President Eisenhower on Tuesday, Jan. 10 . . . Violinist Betty-Jean Hagen, acclaimed by the critics for her brilliant artistry and accomplished musicianship, will play the Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso by Saint-Saens on Patterns in Music, Friday, Dec. 16 . . . Canadians will meet some of the country's top labor leaders when Explorations examines "The Face of Labor" in a series of four, half-hour programs, to begin Wednesday, Jan. 4. . . .

Stars of opera and musical comedy will appear in the Christmas opera, 'Golden Child," to be seen Monday, Dec. 12 on the CBC-TV network. "Golden Child" was composed by Philip Bezanson and Paul Engle.

POST AND BEAM CONTEMPORARY

Here is a truly beautiful contemporary, post-and-beam constructed home. Let us look at some of the features: 1,500 sq. ft. of masonry and beautiful wood beams and panelling. The cathedral entrance brings you into a spacious living room with a solid floor-to-ceiling Swedish brick fireplace with floating hearth on the entire right wall, glass and aluminum sliding doors to patio on the south wall and the rest of the decor features attractive wood panelling. The south wall has cantilevered valance board with concealed daylight fixtures addressing the curtains below and projecting upwards to the ceiling. An abstract design panel conceals a hallway leading to 3 good-size bedrooms, all panelled and featuring large step-in closets. Master bedroom has vanity toilet and the master bathroom's 4-pc decor is attractively appointed in wood panelling and Arborite with vanity. Dinette with large windows to south has plenty of built-in cupboards and is adjacent to an attractive lunch counter. The neighboring kitchen is something unusual and a wife's dream. One wall is solid matching the living room fireplace, contains built-in Tappan oven and space for the largest model of refrigerators. One counter contains the built-in Tappan counter-top with hood and fan above. Counter tops are finished in attractive Arborite to match the decor and the wood panelling and cabinets with glass sliding doors give the decor an even balance. From the kitchen you look through the windows to the utility area wired for washer and dryer with access to the basement and driveway. The house has a majestic double carport, giving the design a rustic appearance. The lot is 87x96, situated on the corner of an attractive crescent surrounded by large estates. PLAN AHEAD OR RELAX RESTRICTIONS

Crucial Issues Confront Saanich Voters Thursday

Saanich faces a crucial municipal election Thursday which will directly effect the policies of council and the expansion of the municipality next year.

The burning issue is whether Saanich should continue its planning and "pay as you go" policies, or relax its zoning and planning restrictions.

A side-issue is promotion of industrial development.

Also important is a $1,200,000 sewer bylaw which is being submitted to ratepayers in the Cadboro Bay-Gordon Head-Shelbourne districts.

Approval would bring an end to unsanitary conditions in some areas and would permit orderly expansion of the eastern section of the municipality.

12 SEEK SEATS

Twelve candidates are contesting three vacant council seats, mainly on these issues.

In addition, three candidates are running for a Saanich seat on the Greater Victoria school board.

A total of 23,700 eligible voters will have an opportunity to vote at 13 polls mostly in halls scattered throughout the municipality.

Candidates:

Coun. Harold Todd, postal employee who has served four years on council. He seeks reelection on his record and advocates "practical planning" for Saanich.

Coun. Ainslee Worthington, realtor, is also seeking re-election. He advocates construction of a welfare centre in the near future.

Frank G. Beamish, 8 Sims Avenue, salesman, is a newcomer in municipal politics. He urges the appointment of a commissioner whose job would be to see if industries can be attracted to Saanich.

Joseph Casey, retired B.C. Electric line foreman and a former reeve, strongly opposes the present administrative policies of Saanich.

He advocates a reduction of municipal staff, especially in the engineering department. He is also opposed to council making grants to Victoria College and Victoria hospitals without first seeking the approval of ratepayers.

Robert Fleming, former councillor, pledges to relax the zoning, apartment and planning regulations, and promises to do his utmost to bring industries to Saanich.

Lionel Speller, department of veterans' affairs ambulance driver, also seeks relaxation of planning, zoning and sign bylaws restrictions.

Stanley G. Eden, police commissioner and former councillor, stands for community planning. He also favors holding the mill rate at its present level.

Beatrice Mundel, housewife and operator of a grocery store, offers to promote a more extensive sidewalk and street lighting program.

Mira Yarwood, housewife and business woman, strongly supports town planning and the present administrative policies of council.

She holds that sprawl is chiefly responsible for the poor services and the high taxes in the municipality because of the high costs of servicing scattered homes and subdivisions.

Albert E. Hull, retired farmer and school trustee, and who now serves on the advisory commission of Veterans' Land Act, Department of Veterans' Affairs, is opposed to the present method of financing schools.

He wants the government to shoulder a larger share of school costs and if possible to take the tax off the land.

In addition he supports town planning and is opposed to sprawl development.

Cunningham H. S. McMillan, retired, a veteran of the First World War, pledges to do all that is possible to stop the mill rate from rising next year.

Robert W. Chard, lawyer, believes the future of Saanich lies in residential development. He believes in planning and supports council program to beautify the municipality.

Running for a single seat on the Greater Victoria School Board are:

David Nightingale, a director of Junior Chamber of Commerce, wants school taxes taken off the land.

William George Curran, 1861 Newton, believes that more should be done for the education of children.

Richard B. Hilton, a psychiatric nurse, is opposed to further salary increases for teachers.

Junior League Okays A's Sale

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The American League Monday night granted conditional approval to a group of Kansas City businessmen seeking the franchise of Kansas City Athletics.

A contract of conditional sale was signed immediately after the American League action, which came at an executive session. The contract provides for purchase of all assets except cash and certain receivables for $3,500,000.

Before the sale is completed there must be approval by the stockholders and by the board of directors of conditions of the sale.

LABOR PLANS MASS RALLY

Victoria Labor Council will be asked to stage a mass demonstration of unemployed workers in all trades.

James McConachy, business agent for Local 91, International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, said Monday his local would make the request.

He said there were 200 unemployed in his union alone and the situation was "worsening all the time," despite pleas sent Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the cabinet and Victoria MP A. DeB. McPhillips.

Union members have voted to seek the resignation of Mr. McPhillips on grounds he lacks knowledge of his constituency.

Bus Driver Charged

HAMILTON (CP)—A school bus driver was charged with drunken and careless driving following an accident Monday.

Four children on the bus escaped with a shaking up, but one woman, Effie Mcleod, is in hospital with a fractured leg.

Police said the bus, operated by the Easthaven School for Retarded Children, climbed a curb, straddled a boulevard and struck a highway sign.

Miss Mcleod was thrown off the front seat by the impact.

James Richards, 42, of Hamilton, was charged with drunken and careless driving.

Ottawa, Provinces Assist Canadian Sheep Industry

OTTAWA (UPI)—A federal-provincial assistance program has been established to aid Canada's sheep industry, Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton announced today.

The program will include financial aid for both the transporting of commercial ewes and lambs to be kept for breeding purposes and the establishment of demonstation blocks at strategic points across the country.

Both moves were recommended by a 1958 sheep industry survey committee.

Hamilton said the federal government would match any provincial contribution toward transportation costs up to 50 per cent. He said the program could not go into effect in any province until the necessary provincial authority was given.

Toys, food and staple goods for inclusion in hampers, are being collected by the committee.

Donations may be left at the Times office, 30 Kenneth Street. Girls at Queen Margaret's School have just completed and turned over 37 dolls.

Law Waits 10 Months To Get Man

Three offences committed in Sidney last February finally caught up with a View Royal man in RCMP court Monday.

Lawrence James Eckert, 189 Helmcken, was fined a total of $50 and $8 costs for causing a disturbance by shouting and swearing, failing to stop for a policeman and speeding over 30.

He pleaded guilty to two, was found guilty after a trial on the third charge — for speeding.

Police said the accused left the area to go to work on fishboats immediately after the offences.

776 Demand Mayor Mabel's Resignation

Petition Received In Stony Silence

ALBERNI — Mayor Mabel Anderson Monday was asked to resign in a petition containing signatures of 776 ratepayers.

The document was received and filed.

It was a copy of a petition addressed to Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black, circulated by the Alberni Voters' Association.

If the mayor doesn't resign, the petition asks the provincial government to investigate the city's affairs.

NO COMMENT

Council refrained from comment and Mayor Anderson herself remained silent.

The document said "extreme concern" was felt by a "significant number" of Alberni citizens over the way the mayor conducts civic affairs.

"We request that you ask Mayor Anderson to resign," it read, "since any effort on our part to get public recognition of this public expression would be useless."

"INCOMPETENT"

It said the mayor had ignored several similar requests.

"In many peoples' opinion the mayor is incompetent and it is on this basis we feel she should be asked to resign.

"In the event that this does not appear possible to yourself, we think that such a situation indicates a very definite need of an inquiry into our city's proceedings and ask that you take proper action."

An audience of 15 persons, mostly from the voters' association, attended the councli meeting.

GANGES—Three new members were welcomed into the Lions Club at the recent dinner meeting at Harbor House.

COUNCILLOR OPPOSED

Reduced Budget Urged by Reeve

MAPLE BAY—Reduced spending in 1961 to preserve the present low mill rate was urged here Monday in a policy speech by Reeve Donald Morton.

Retaining the present 10-mill rate would encourage more heavy industry to the municipality, he told the annual meeting of Maple Bay ratepayers.

Coun. Tony Staples of Maple Bay who is seeking re-election, disagreed.

He said an increase of one

agree to any reduction of services. He was supported by Robert Swailes, secretary of the ratepayers' association.

SUPPORTS REEVE

David Barr, candidate for council, declared full support of the reeve and his policy of careful spending.

He also asked that some geographical representation of council members be kept in mind in such a big municipality. With 79 square miles it is necessary, he said, to have a councillor in the south end.

NO JUSTIFICATION

Mr. Barr also came out strongly in support of school boards in their efforts to stem the rising tide of teachers' wages. He could see no justification for this when other items of expense were being lowered.

Officers elected for 1961 to serve the Maple Bay community were: J. F. Lequesne, president; R. Swailes, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. C. J. Wilson, Hubert Hanson and George Watson, directors.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

First Picture of an Atom Bomb.

First pictures ever released of atomic bombs similar to those which fell on Hiroshima and Nagasaki 15 years ago came today from U.S. Defence Department and Atomic Energy Commission. Made public on the eve of the 19th anniversary of the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, the above photo shows the "fat-man" type of A-bomb exploded over Nagasaki in 1945. The weapon is 60 inches in diameter, 128 inches long and weighed 10,000 pounds. The two bombs killed 150,000 persons. The Hiroshima-type bomb was thinner and shorter than the Nagasaki. The pictures had been withheld until now because unfavorable diplomatic results might have been provoked by their release previously. Today's announcement said the release "concerned a matter of history and would not be inimical to the interests of the United States." (AP Wirephoto.)

UN Row Boils On Treatment Of Lumumba

Reds Lose On Demand For Meet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin failed today in his efforts to call an emergency night session of the Security Council on The Congo. Western delegates had denounced the move by Zorin, the council president, as arbitrary.

The UN announced: "There will be no Security Council meeting tonight."

Western members said they had not been consulted by Zorin, and charged him with abusing his powers as president.

Zorin handed the request for the meeting to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold in an attempt to get a full council discussion immediately of the arrest and detention of deposed Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba.

MEMBERS POLLED

Hammarskjold polled members of the 11-nation council and apparently did not find support for a night meeting.

Zorin circulated at UN headquarters a declaration demanding the immediate release of Lumumba, the disarming of the army directed by strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu and the expulsion of all Belgian civilian and military personnel in the Congo.

Meanwhile, the United Arab Republic became the third member of the UN Congo conciliation commission to withdraw amid growing doubt that the Asian-African group would ever get to Leopoldville.

The Soviet delegation opened the way for a Congo debate Friday when it called on Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to report at once to the General Assembly on what is being done to help the imprisoned Lumumba.

Hammarskjold sent a letter to Congo President Joseph Kasavubu Monday asking that the International Red Cross be permitted to examine Lumumba to make sure he had not been mistreated by Mobutu's men. He said Lumumba's seizure had raised general fears for his safety.

TREATMENT "INHUMANE"

Rajeshwar Dayal of India, Hammarskjold's special representative in The Congo, reported Lumumba was suffering from serious injuries and was being held under inhumane conditions.

The secretary-general said he hopes Lumumba will be given his full rights under the law, if he is prosecuted, and that he will be permitted to retain counsel of his own choice.

Meanwhile, Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu served notice United Nations officials will "never" visit deposed premier Patrice Lumumba in jail at Thysville military camp.

At the same time, Mobutu admitted that Lumumba had been roughed up by his troops —"What do you expect?"

Mobutu, talking to reporters while perched on a car outside the camp, scoffed at the concern for Lumumba expressed by UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

WHITE HOUSE MEET

Kennedy Briefed By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-Elect Kennedy and President Eisenhower joined in a declaration today that the United States will "continue to seek peace with justice in freedom for all peoples" as its world objective.

The Republican president and Democratic president-elect said in a joint statement that they had discussed "major problems of peace, security and freedom throughout the world" in a White House conference lasting more than three hours today.

The two men, who had uncomplimentary things to say about each other's policies in the presidential campaign, had what Kennedy personally described as a "cordial" meeting.

Kennedy was greeted by a military display and was met by Eisenhower at the doorstep when he arrived at the White House at 9 a.m. for a conference on the problems involved in the forthcoming change of administration.

For almost two hours the two men talked alone in Eisenhower's office. Then they met with Secretary of State Christian Herter, Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson, and Secretary of Defence Thomas Gates.

The statement issued after the meeting said Eisenhower and Kennedy talked over the American balance of payments and the position of the American dollar. Secretary Anderson recently has been attempting to reduce the foreign drain on American dollars and Eisenhower has acted to cut some outlays in the military field.

Kennedy told reporters he and Eisenhower discussed the transition of government as well as some of the problems the U.S. faces.

He said Eisenhower told him he would be glad to be of service to the country at any time in the future when he felt he was needed.

Second Meeting Offered if Needed

Kennedy said Eisenhower gave him his views on a number of problems facing the U.S., and volunteered to have another meeting if Kennedy wants it.

In response to Eisenhower's invitation the 43-year-old senator — youngest man ever elected to the presidency — came to the White House at 9 a.m.

The 70-year-old president, oldest man ever to serve in the office, was waiting on the steps to greet him.

Eisenhower beamed. As Kennedy walked up the steps Eisenhower told him, "I'd have come down there but the photographers wouldn't let me do it."

Eisenhower and Kennedy shook hands twice—the second time for the benefit of photographers, and Kennedy told the president: "It's good to be here."

There were more television cameras in sight than veteran reporters ever could remember at the White House.

U.S. HELPS REBELS

Laos Wants Aid Halted

VIENTIANE (Reuters) — The neutralist government of Laos was reported today considering an appeal to the United Nations to halt American aid to right-wing rebels in the three-cornered struggle for power in this strategic Indo-Chinese kingdom.

The neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, today summoned Dr. Edouard Zellweger, the UN representative in Laos, and reliable sources reported that Souvanna raised the possibility of a direct appeal to the United Nations.

Vientiane Radio charged today that right-wing troops now are equipped with modern weapons which did not exist in Laos before the civil war erupted almost four months ago.

The possibility of an appeal to the United Nations was raised as the government tottered under the pressure of left-wing extremists and a cut-off of American aid.

TO RESIGN?

Sources close to Prince Souvanna Phouma said the Laotian premier may eventually be forced to resign. They forecast a full-scale civil war between Communist and right-wing troops if he steps down.

Left-wing pressure on the government has been mounting steadily, aimed at blocking any negotiations between Souvanna and the right-wing forces of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan. The leftists succeeded last week in preventing National Assembly approval for a coalition government that would include some of Phoumi's supporters.

Meanwhile, Souvanna's government was faced with a desperate shortage of money because of the cut-off of American aid. National Bank officials said no American aid had been paid into the treasury for October and November. American aid usually totals $1,500,000 a month.

TWO NEGROES ELECTED

TORONTO (CP)—Leonard A. Brathwaite, first Negro ever to run for election in suburban Etobicoke, won a seat on the township's board of education Monday with a big majority over the nearest contender. Mr. Brathwaite, 38, is a lawyer.

In Windsor, Dr. Roy Perry, a Negro dentist defeated in the 1958 mayoralty race after serving seven years as an alderman and two years on the board of control, was returned as an alderman. (See also Page 19.)

BOYCOTT BREAKS

Segregation Mob Taunts Alta. Woman

NEW ORLEANS (CP)—An assistant professor of English from the University of Alberta was taunted by women boycotting an integrated school here today.

The trouble broke out when Brigitta Steene, a native of Sweden, arrived at William Frantz School.

When questioned by women demonstrators, she was reported to have said she saw nothing wrong with interracial marriages.

"We'll get you a Nigger to marry," one woman yelled.

Police escorted Miss Steene from the demonstrators.

One threw a hard-boiled egg at her and hit a reporter on the back.

Miss Steene was quoted as saying she had gone to see the integration boycott out of curiosity.

Meanwhile 23 white children went to classes in integrated William Frantz School, spared the worst of the usual jeers from pickets because police cleared a one-block area around the building.

While the gap in the segregation boycott widened, New Orleans legislators prepared to ask the Orleans parish county school board to resign, the New Orleans States-Item reported.

Arts Council Needs Money

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada Council said today lack of funds is progressively limiting its ability to help worthy students and national cultural organizations.

In a brief submitted to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the council asked for immediate government action to boost its endowment fund income from $2,900,000 a year to $3,400,000.

'Baby Budget' Due on Dec. 20

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's supplementary budget for the current fiscal year will be presented Tuesday, Dec. 20, Finance Minister Fleming announced today in the Commons.

The pre-Christmas baby budget—the main one for the year was presented last March 31—was forecast in the Speech from the throne at the opening of the current session Nov. 17.

The last time such a baby budget was presented was in December of 1957 after the Progressive Conservatives took office in June of that year, when social security payments were boosted and taxes cut by a total $176,000,000 a year in a program aimed at offsetting an economic slump.

In his March budget for the fiscal year ending next March 31, Mr. Fleming forecast a $12,000,000 surplus. Since then the general expectation has been that Mr. Fleming's budget will go into the red, since the forecast of a six-per-cent increase in the gross national product—on which last spring's budget was based—has not materialized.

RECESS ON DEC. 21

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said the Commons could adjourn for its Christmas recess after its sitting on Wednesday, Dec. 21.

Opposition Leader Pearson said, however, that in view of the unemployment situation there should be an opportunity to debate the budget before Christmas.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Wednesday sitting could be made a morning, afternoon and night sitting to discuss the fiscal proposals.

Paul Hellyer (L., Toronto Trinity) asked when the House would resume its meetings after Jan. 1. Mr. Diefenbaker said that would be announced before the House rises for Christmas.

Mr. Hellyer, who is chairman of preparations for the national Liberal rally here Jan. 9-11, said members of parliament need the information now to make reservations.

CANDIDATES' PICTURES INSIDE TODAY

Oak Bay and Saanich candidates can be found today on Pages 15 and 26.

West England Town Cut Off By Floods

LONDON (Reuters) — Surging floods cut off an English town of nearly 5,000 inhabitants today as Western Europe found normally placid rivers turned into rampaging torrents after days of storms.

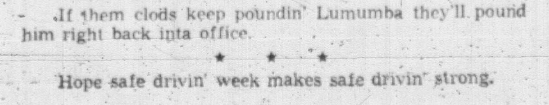
Police said the situation was "serious" in Monmouth in western England where the rivers Monnow and Wye spilled over their banks during the night, surrounding the town with water.

Hundreds of families were evacuated from their homes in hastily-commandeered craft.

Others parts of Britain were cleaning up in the wake of the most widespread flooding in history.

Across the North Sea in the Netherlands, Dutchmen frantically built up sandbag dikes to check the flooding river mark in the southwest of the low-lying country.

Four Dutch provinces reported houses and farmland under water.



Often seems thet th' least public thing about public bizness is whut's goin' on.

'CHILDREN OF INDIA'

'Shantas' Look to You

Will you save a place at your Christmas table for nine-year-old Shanta?

Until she stepped over the welcoming threshold of a Unitarian Service Committee home in India a few weeks ago, she was leading her blind father in the streets to beg.

She had never seen a comb, or had a soothing bath to heal the scabies which covered her body.

Never once had she eaten enough at one time to forget the pangs of hunger.

But today she's a good-looking and slightly giggly girl—like most her age—and would be an asset to any group.

There are thousands like Shanta was before she received USC help. These are the children you are asked to sit, at least theoretically, at your table this Christmas.

This can be done by practical contributions to the Times-sponsored Children of India Fund.

There is not much time left to make this warm-hearted gesture in time for Christmas.

And it will be a gesture that lasts the year round.

Contributions by cheque or cash can be sent or brought to the Times offices at either 1215 Broad Street or 2631 Douglas Street. Such contributions come off income tax.

Output in the January-November period was 362,114 units, a rise of 6.3 per cent from 340,741 a year earlier.

$350 Million Order For Boeing Airliners

NEW YORK (AP)—Eastern Air Lines and United Air Lines have signed contracts to buy a total of 80 three-engined jet airliners from the Boeing Airplane Company for $350,000,000.

The two airlines said they have each ordered 40 short-to-medium-range jet transports that Boeing promised to deliver before the end of 1963.

The deal is one of the biggest in the history of the U.S. transportation industry.

It marked the entry of Boeing into the field of shorter-range jets, which has been dominated by plane manufacturers in Western Europe. It also was the first commitment by a United States aircraft manufacturer to build a three-engined plane with its power plant at the rear of the airframe.

Boeing President William Allen said the plane will be able to carry from 70 to 114 passengers at speeds up to 600 miles an hour. Its range will be from 150 to 1,700 miles.

Twaddle Talk Says Bank Chief

TORONTO (CP) — In the current debatoe about foreign capital in Canada there is a great deal of twaddle talk, A. C. Ashforth, president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank, said today at the bank's annual meeting.

Some of the arguments are emotional, based on a feeling of hurt national pride rather than on economics, he said.

"Many foreign-controlled companies have a record of corporate citizenship better than that of some Canadian companies.

"No one will deny the desirability of Canadians owning a greater share of Canadian industry, but before we take any hasty action to stem the flow of foreign capital or making it feel it is not welcome, let us examine its benefits. Without foreign capital, Canada's economic progress would have been much slower and our standards of living would be lower."

Mr. Ashforth said there are sound arguments why foreign companies should permit Canadian participation in the ownership of firms which they control in Canada, but to offer participation to Canadians might not achieve what it is hoped to accomplish.

"The time has come to call a halt to expansion in welfare expenditures and to devote more of our funds to productive purposes. Stimulation of savings and private investment, rather than boosting public expenditures, is the road to travel," he said.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trade was slow in all grains and export business was quiet today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Oats and barley had routine orders in connection with feed supply. Mainly narrow movements in prices resulted.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat during the last two days were: Germany, 415,000 bushels; United Kingdom, 170,000, and Italy, 160,000.

Class two, IWA and domestic wheat prices, basis Lakehead, were all down ¼ cent from Monday.

CHICAGO (AP)—A generally firm grain futures market cracked open today as profit-taking found weakening resistance on the Board of Trade.

By early afternoon, numerous contracts were on the minus side, some only slightly, in a dull trade. Only corn held small gains for all deliveries.

'LITTLE PRAYER . . . THERE IT WAS'

By TONY DICKASON

CREATORS of artistic piece are, from left, E. J. Chandler, the sculptor, John Ritchel, and J. S. Gibson. Mr. Chandler and Mr. Gibson carried out the aluminum casting job. The pieces have yet to be assembled.

Aluminum sculpture weighing 630 pounds will soon grace the front lawn of the Victoria Art Gallery.

It is abstraction "Figures in Architecture."

The work, made and created under a Canada Council grant, consists of eight individual pieces, assembled to 6 feet 4 inches in length and 4 feet 9 inches high.

ANCHOR

The piece will be firmly anchored, to eliminate interference by vandals.

Creator is John Ritchel, 1740 Lands End Road, whose "pilot" model of the huge casting was selected over 16 other submissions for the $1,500 Canada Council grant.

Mr. Ritchel works in the basement of his waterfront home and has lived with the project more than a year.

IN NEW YORK

He studied sculpture in Vancouver and New York. His full-time job is attending to plants at the Dominion Experimental Farm in Saanichton.

The cubist configurations of the sculpting symbolize modern architecture.

The big aluminum casting job, one of the largest attempted in Victoria, was done by E. J. Chandler and J. S. Gibson, who operate a foundry on the Island Highway.

* * *

The silvery blocks will likely be welded together by a Victoria shipyard.

Cost of the aluminum was about $700.

How did Mr. Ritchel decide on the type of project?

"I just sort of became quiet in my mind, perhaps made a little prayer, and there it was."

It is certainly individualistic.

The artist believes in his work to the point of stating "I'm hardened to all sorts of comment and criticism."

BAD NEWS FOR BOYS . . . Col. R. O. Bull tells me the firemen's poles will be taken out of the old fire hall at Yates and Camosun as it is converted into the Boys' Club of Victoria.

"Oh, yes, I know the boys would love them," Col. Bull said, "but they are much too dangerous. Someone would get kicked in the head!"

Maybe so, but it seems an awful pity. I always wanted to skim down a fireman's pole.

Mrs. James Barr, 965 Trans-Canada Highway, was feeding the ducks behind her home when a Canada goose swooped down and snatched a piece of bread from a butterball duck.

The tiny duck then dived below the water and came up underneath the goose. This upset his balance so much that he flew away—and the duck, of course, recovered his prize.

Word that two arbitration boards on the mainland have ruled that there would be no wage increases for teachers brought a smile to Mayor Percy Scurrah today. MAYOR'S TRIP TO OTTAWA CALLED OFF

Mayor Percy Scurrah today said he will not go to Ottawa at the present time.

The mayor was authorized by aldermen last week to lead a delegation in an effort to obtain federal financial assistance for off-street parking developments.

But a letter from the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities has changed the situation, the mayor said after a meeting today.

"Our representative has been very busy and after receiving his letter I don't think it would be advisable to go at the present time—maybe later but not now.

"It doesn't appear as though it would be fruitful."

Council has not revealed yet the specific proposal it hoped to put before the federal government.

New Party Lays Plans For City Club

B.C.'s second New Party club will be formed in Victoria in the next few days.

The groundwork was laid Monday night when national New Party club organizer R. Desmond Sparham addressed a small meeting at the home of Marney Stevenson, 316 Moss.

First New Party club was started in Esquimalt-Saanich Sunday.

"We decided to form a club," Mrs. Stevenson said today.

"It will be on the same basis as the Esquimalt-Saanich one—composed of independent liberals with a small 'l.'"

She said the club will not consist of CCF and trade union representatives.

"These clubs will be a third segment which will go into the New Party with them when it is formed next summer," she said.

LOTS HERE

"There should be a lot of independent liberals in Victoria," she said.

About 22 attended the Esquimalt-Saanich meeting Sunday. They hope that the CCF and labor will join them in picking a New Party candidate for the Esquimalt-Saanich byelection.

The CCF has set a nominating convention Dec. 14. New Party club members are expected to attend.

Arena Decision Nears After Marathon Talks

Mulliner Promises Early Statement

Memorial Arena Commission wound up eight hours of closed talks at noon today without revealing the results.

The commission met for six hours Monday night, resumed the discussion for two hours this morning and decided to hold a committee meeting this afternoon.

"There will be a statement made by tomorrow, maybe sooner," said chairman Frank Mulliner. "It will go to the mayor."

He would not comment on the commission meetings.

"SUGGESTION"

The sessions followed an extra-ordinary meeting between city council and the commission Saturday at which it was "suggested" to the commission that it reinstate all six employees who quit in September and precipitated the resignation crisis.

Mayor Percy Scurrah indicated that council could go no further than suggesting a solution to the stalemate because the commission had sole right to manage arena affairs.

Today the mayor said he had not received any communication from the commission "yet."

"It must have been a controversial session to have lasted that long but I haven't received any information," he said.

NO CONTACT

Kenneth Noakes, former office manager who led the resignation and current storm centre of the hassle, said he had not been contacted by the arena.

(Saturday's session largely involved a debate whether or not Mr. Noakes should be reinstated along with the other five employees until a new manager is hired to replace Joe Dukowski.)

E. E. Pearlman, lawyer for the six employees, also said he had "not heard a word" from the commission since Saturday.

BOMBERS REFUEL

Secure Sounds Of Deterrence As City Sleeps

By MONTE ROBERTS

In the silence of the night, when traffic noises have died away and the only sounds are the normal ones of sleep, many a Victoria resident has wakened briefly to a deep booming far overhead.

The aroused sleeper may wonder vaguely what aircraft is droning along, and on what mission.

Chances are very good that it is a giant United States Air Force B-52, the long-ranging, nuclear-load-packing backbone of the Strategic Air Command, on an airborne mission of deterrence.

REFUELLING

It is possible, too, that the big bomber is taking on a new load of fuel from one of the USAF KC-135 tanker planes, so that its vigil aloft will not be interrupted.

An air force spokesman from the McChord, Wash., base said today that "frequent" exercises were carried out over Vancouver Island, with NORAD jet fighters carrying out stimulated intercepting manoeuvres against the bombers.

The fighters are also sent out on unscheduled scrambles, to test radar warning lines.

At least one Victoria resident is quite happy to have his sleep disturbed by the United States airmen.

Writing to the Times, he said: "As I lie in bed, I hear what I am certain is the sound of KC-135s and B-52s over Victoria, engaged in the business of re-fueling—and I go back to sleep secure in the thought that the men of the Kremlin must view a nuclear exchange as somewhat unattractive."

DC-3 LEAVING

First 'Count Here Today For TCA

Trans-Canada Air Lines Flight 143 made history at Patricia Bay Airport today.

It brought in the first load of passengers on a turbo-prop Viscount aircraft when it landed at 11.30 a.m. The plane flew on to Seattle and then was scheduled to make the return trip to Victoria and Vancouver later in the day.

"We're putting the Viscounts in for a certain number of flights per week until we go all-Viscount on Jan. 2," said district agent Robert Kolb.

The intermittent flights will be flown by the chief pilot and regular pilots on the Victoria run to familiarize themselves fully with the change. All of them have flown passengerless training flights with Viscounts on the run previously.

The half-hour run between Victoria and Vancouver will be cut by five minutes when the Viscounts replace the five familiar DC-3s on the run. The new craft will carry up to 54 passengers.

Highway Crisis Faces California Says Gaglardi

California faces "a real crisis" in highways within 20 years, B.C.'s Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi said today.

Mr. Gaglardi last week visited Sacramento, capital of the state, to confer with California highways officials on ideas and administration.

"Their problem is that with their car population, the highways are deteiorating faster than they can keep them up,' he said.

"By 1980 they will be facing a real crisis."

B.C. with a much smaller population actually has a greater highway network and spends more per capita on its roads than California, he claimed.

'Blue Yonder' Cameramen Meet in City

Aerial photographers from the Pacific Northwest met here today to discuss their science and new techniques.

About 50 delegates were expected to register for the annual conference of the Puget Sound region of the American Society of Photogrammetry. Photogrammetry is the science of aerial photography and its interpretation.

The meeting is being held in conjunction with the 51st Western Forestry Conference, which opens at the Empress Wednesday.

Preliminary meetings of committees on pest control, reforestation and forest fires were held today.

More than 500 forestry officials from Government and industry are expected to attend the three-day conference.

The photogrammetry meeting is discussing use of aerial photos in map making, forestry, highways and railways.

C. O. Brawner of the B.C. highways department this afternoon was to speak on how aerial pictures help in studying landslides. E. H. Lyons of the B.C. Forest Service spoke on helicopter stereo photography, and a lands department study on the difference between aerial and ground measurements was also to be presented.

Bids Called On Homes For Elderly

Tenders have been called for the second of 15 planned units in the Gorge View Society's low-rent housing development for senior citizens.

The project is expected to provide about three months work this winter during construction of a six-suite frame building.

Two suites will be for couples and four for single persons. A similar unit was erected about a year ago.

The society, sponsored by the United Church in Canada, owns a five-acre site on Irma between Balfour and Harriet on which it hopes to establish a development housing 132 senior citizens when complete.

Supervising architects Wade, Stockdill & Armour will open bids for the project Dec. 21, and work is expected to start early next year.

Cost of the development is split three ways among the society, the provincial government and the board of social service of the United Church.

Two Charged In Vic West Store Theft

Two men were charged in city police court today with burglary and theft at a Victoria West grocery following reports of early morning break-ins at two stores.

Michael Coles, 19, Scott Street, pleaded guilty to breaking, entering and theft at Shearing's Food Market, 810 Catherine, where police said $357 worth of groceries, hardware, cameras, watches and 300 packages of cigarets were stolen.

Courtney McMillan, 35, Douglas Street, pleaded not guilty to the same charge and both were remanded to Dec. 14, the first for probation report and sentence, McMillan for trial.

Police went to the store when someone reported three youths in a red pickup truck breaking the front door glass.

One person was found inside the store and another was stopped driving a truck on Catherine.

'MEN CATCH SUSPECT IN PROWLING

Naval seaman William N. Aller was charged in city police court today with theft under $50 value after two men caught a prowler rifling their cars in a downtown parking lot at 1.05 a.m.

Aller was remanded on $250 bail to Thursday for plea.

Sid Anderson, 3311 Linwood, and Frank Wright, 2731 Mount Stephen, told police their cars were in Moose Lodge parking lot off Cormorant Street.

When they went to them they disturbed a prowler and found a box of mechanic's tools and vacuum cleaner missing from Anderson's car; a fishing rod and paper seal gone from Wright's.

Two Sailors Hurt As Car Wrecked

Two naval seamen were taken to HMCS Naden Hospital with minor injuries after their car was wrecked on E and N Railway tracks off Admirals Road at 1.20 a.m.

Driver-owner Hans R. Haugen, HMCS Fraser, was treated for a hand cut, and Peter Rafferty, also of Fraser, was admitted with head and possible back injury.

Colwood RCMP said their 1953 car was a total loss.

The men were driving south on Admirals and had reached a curve near Plumper Bay when the car went off the west side of the road, through the bush and overturned, landing on its side on the E and N main line, a short drop below the road.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Are B.C. car licences issued according to district and if so what is the number range for Victoria and district? G.M.

A. As a general rule, yes. However, there is nothing to prevent a car owner obtaining his licence from other than the district in which he lives. There are 38 main licence issuing offices in B.C. and 40 sub-offices. Victoria, as the capital, has first choice of plates and for this district licence numbers range from "1" to around "70,000."

Q. Which is correct: Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Family or The John Smith Family? E.W.D.

A. You are probably thinking of addressing Christmas cards. The former is correct.

Q. Is the chihuahua the smallest dog or is there a smaller breed? P.T.

A. It's the smallest. Grown dogs can weigh as little as one pound.

Oak Bay to Fill Three Seats And Vote on Council Indemnity

Four contestants will seek three seats on Oak Bay council Thursday.

Ratepayers will also vote on a referendum asking if they favor annual indemnities being paid council.

Voting will be at one poll only, the Municipal Hall, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. An advance poll was held today and will be held again Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the same place.

Seeking election are three incumbent councillors and a newcomer to civic politics.

FRED ROBINSON

FRED HAWES

JOHN WATTS

HARRY GREGSON

Standing are Fred Hawes, lumber company president and seven years on council; Fred Robinson, contractor, a veteran of eight years on council; John Watts, an engineer, who has served one and one-half years.

Newcomer is Harry Gregson, publisher of the Oak Bay Leader and founder of the Oak Bay Board of Trade.

Under the referendum pay for the reeve would be $3,600 and for councillors $1,200.

EXPENSES

At present the reeve receives an expense allowance of $60 monthly and councillors each get $20.

On the salary question, Mr. Hawes favors a slight upward adjustment; Mr. Robinson believes council and reeve are worth the full amount obtainable under the terms of the Municipal Act; Mr. Watts favors indemnities also while Mr. Gregson believes $600 for council pay would not be unreasonable.

WHITE HOUSE MEET

Kennedy Briefed By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-Elect Kennedy and President Eisenhower joined in a declaration today that the United States will "continue to seek peace with justice in freedom for all peoples" as its world objective.

The Republican president and Democratic president-elect said in a joint statement that they had discussed "major problems of peace, security and freedom throughout the world" in a White House conference lasting more than three hours today.

The two men, who had uncomplimentary things to say about each other's policies in the presidential campaign, had what Kennedy personally described as a "cordial" meeting.

Kennedy was greeted by a military display and was met by Eisenhower at the doorstep when he arrived at the White House at 9 a.m. for a conference on the problems involved in the forthcoming change of administration.

For almost two hours the two men talked alone in Eisenhower's office. Then they met with Secretary of State Christian Herter, Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson, and Secretary of Defence Thomas Gates.

The statement issued after the meeting said Eisenhower and Kennedy talked over the American balance of payments and the position of the American dollar. Secretary Anderson recently has been attempting to reduce the foreign drain on American dollars, and Eisenhower has acted to cut some outlays in the military field.

Kennedy told reporters he and Eisenhower discussed the transition of government as well as some of the problems the U.S. faces.

He said Eisenhower told him he would be glad to be of service to the country at any time in the future when he felt he was needed.

Second Meeting Offered if Needed

Kennedy said Eisenhower gave him his views on a number of problems facing the U.S., and volunteered to have another meeting if Kennedy wants it.

In response to Eisenhower's invitation the 43-year-old senator — youngest man ever elected to the presidency — came to the White House at 9 a.m.

The 70-year-old president, oldest man ever to serve in the office, was waiting on the steps to greet him.

Eisenhower beamed. As Kennedy walked up the steps Eisenhower told him, "I'd have come down there but the photographers wouldn't let me do it."

Eisenhower and Kennedy shook hands twice—the second time for the benefit of photographers, and Kennedy told the president: "It's good to be here."

There were more television cameras in sight than veteran reporters ever could remember at the White House.

First Picture of an Atom Bomb

First pictures ever released of atomic bombs similar to those which fell on Hiroshima and Nagasaki 15 years ago came today from U.S. Defence Department and Atomic Energy Commission. Made public on the eve of the 19th anniversary of the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, the above photo shows the "fat-man" type of A-bomb exploded over Nagasaki in 1945. The weapon is 60 inches in diameter, 128 inches long and weighed 10,000 pounds. The two bombs killed 150,000 persons. The Hiroshima-type bomb was thinner and shorter than the Nagasaki. The pictures had been withheld until now because unfavorable diplomatic results might have been provoked by their release previously. Today's announcement said the release "concerned a matter of history and would not be inimical to the interests of the United States." (AP Wirephoto.)

U.S. HELPS REBELS

Laos Wants Aid Halted

VIENTIANE (Reuters) — The neutralist government of Laos was reported today considering an appeal to the United Nations to halt American aid to right-wing rebels in the three-cornered struggle for power in this strategic Indo-Chinese kingdom.

The neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, today summoned Dr. Edouard Zellweger, the UN representative in Laos, and reliable sources reported that Souvanna raised the possibility of a direct appeal to the United Nations.

Vientiane Radio charged today that right-wing troops now are equipped with modern weapons which did not exist in Laos before the civil war erupted almost four months ago.

The possibility of an appeal to the United Nations was raised as the government tottered under the pressure of left-wing extremists and a cut-off of American aid.

TO RESIGN?

Sources close to Prince Souvanna Phouma said the Laotian premier may eventually be forced to resign. They forecast a full-scale civil war between Communist and right-wing troops if he steps down.

Left-wing pressure on the government has been mounting steadily, aimed at blocking any negotiations between Souvanna and the right-wing forces of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan. The leftists succeeded last week in preventing National Assembly approval for a coalition government that would include some of Phoumi's supporters.

Meanwhile, Souvanna's government was faced with a desperate shortage of money because of the cut-off of American aid. National Bank officials said no American aid had been paid into the treasury for October and November. American aid usually totals $1,500,000 a month.

'Baby Budget' Due on Dec. 20

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's supplementary budget for the current fiscal year will be presented Tuesday, Dec. 20, Finance Minister Fleming announced today in the Commons.

The pre-Christmas baby budget—the main one for the year was presented last March 31—was forecast in the Speech from the throne at the opening of the current session Nov. 17.

The last time such a baby budget was presented was in December of 1957 after the Progressive Conservatives took office in June of that year, when social security payments were boosted and taxes cut by a total $176,000,000 a year in a program aimed at offsetting an economic slump.

In his March budget for the fiscal year ending next March 31, Mr. Fleming forecast a $12,000,000 surplus. Since then the general expectation has been that Mr. Fleming's budget will go into the red, since the forecast of a six-per-cent increase in the gross national product—on which last spring's budget was based—has not materialized.

RECESS ON DEC. 21

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said the Commons could adjourn for its Christmas recess after its sitting on Wednesday, Dec. 21.

Opposition Leader Pearson said, however, that in view of the unemployment situation there should be an opportunity to debate the budget before Christmas.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Wednesday sitting could be made a morning, afternoon and night sitting to discuss the fiscal proposals.

Paul Hellyer (L., Toronto Trinity) asked when the House would resume its meetings after Jan. 1. Mr. Diefenbaker said that would be announced before the House rises for Christmas.

Mr. Hellyer, who is chairman of preparations for the national Liberal rally here Jan. 9-11, said members of parliament need the information now to make reservations.

West England Town Cut Off By Floods

LONDON (Reuters) — Surging floods cut off an English town of nearly 5,000 inhabitants today as Western Europe found normally placid rivers turned into rampaging torrents after days of storms.

Police said the situation was "serious" in Monmouth in western England where the rivers Monnow and Wye spilled over their banks during the night, surrounding the town with water.

Hundreds of families were evacuated from their homes in hastily-commandeered craft.

Other parts of Britain were cleaning up in the wake of the most widespread flooding in history.

Across the North Sea in the Netherlands, Dutchmen frantically built up sandbag dikes to check the flooding river Mark in the southwest of the low-lying country.

Four Dutch provinces reported houses and farmland under water.

Council Session Rejected

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin failed today in his efforts to call an emergency night session of the Security Council on The Congo. Western delegates had denounced the move by Zorin, the council president, as arbitrary.

The UN announced: "There will be no Security Council meeting tonight."

Western members said they had not been consulted by Zorin, and charged him with abusing his powers as president.

Zorin handed the request for the meeting to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold in an attempt to get a full council discussion immediately of the arrest and detention of deposed Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba.

MEMBERS POLLED

Hammarskjold polled members of the 11-nation council and apparently did not find support for a night meeting.

Zorin circulated at UN headquarters a declaration demanding the immediate release of Lumumba, the disarming of the army directed by strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu and the expulsion of all Belgian civilian and military personnel in the Congo.

Meanwhile, the United Arab Republic became the third member of the UN Congo conciliation commission to withdraw amid growing doubt that the Asian-African group would ever get to Leopoldville.

The Soviet delegation opened the way for a Congo debate Friday when it called on Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to report at once to the General Assembly on what is being done to help the imprisoned Lumumba.

Hammarskjold sent a letter to Congo President Joseph Kasavubu Monday asking that the International Red Cross be permitted to examine Lumumba to make sure he had not been mistreated by Mobutu's men. He said Lumumba's seizure had raised general fears for his safety.

TREATMENT "INHUMANE"

Rajeshwar Dayal of India, Hammarskjold's special representative in The Congo, reported Lumumba was suffering from serious injuries and was being held under inhumane conditions.

The secretary-general said he hopes Lumumba will be given his full rights under the law, if he is prosecuted, and that he will be permitted to retain counsel of his own choice.

Meanwhile, Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu served notice United Nations officials will "never" visit deposed premier Patrice Lumumba in jail at Thysville military camp.

At the same time, Mobutu admitted that Lumumba had been roughed up by his troops—"What do you expect?"

Mobutu, talking to reporters while perched on a car outside the camp, scoffed at the concern for Lumumba expressed by UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

PARIS—Despite massive doses of perfume, most Paris subway stations still smell like a football team's locker room at halftime.

City officials, fearing shoppers were using other transportation because of the odor, tried wafting the essence of some of Paris' famed perfume through miles of underground tubes.

That didn't help, so this week four subway lines are spraying the odor of violets along the tracks while another is trying to make passengers believe they are sniffing the refreshing odor of a pine forest.

He pleaded guilty to two, was found guilty after a trial on the third charge — for speeding.

Police said the accused left the area to go to work on fishboats immediately after the offences.

Metro Urged to Cure Urban Blight

(Compiled from CP)

VANCOUVER — The city planning director for Portland, Ore., said here Monday that metropolitan government is the best way to combat blight of urban residential areas.

Lloyd T. Keefe told a Vancouver housing conference that as city homes deteriorate the owners drift away to newer and more attractive suburbs.

He said city tax values go down and the new occupants of old homes just wait their chance to move out. They can't be persuaded to improve the property, he said.

Metro government, said Mr. Keefe, means fairer sharing of taxes and of the services they provide. It doesn't simply mean the smaller surrounding municipalities are subsidizing city slum clearance—it is a two-way street. The suburbs gain in the provision of other public services such as parks and sewers.

Deputy provincial secretary Laurie Wallace indicated a survey may be started shortly of all housing needs for elderly persons in B.C.

The provincial government's aid program to legitimate public groups building low rental homes has grown to the point where a detailed study is needed, he said.

"No one really knows how many elderly people want accommodation."

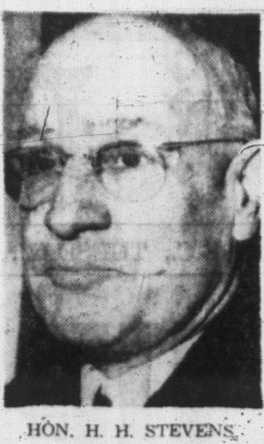
KELOWNA — Organized labor in the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia is urging that ratification of the Columbia River treaty be withheld until complete information of the proposed development is given to people in the involved area.

Kelowna, Penticton, Vernon and district labor council met here Sunday and requested ratification of the treaty be withheld. The council will request this of Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

NOT 'PLAYING DEAD'

VANCOUVER—A four-year-old boy who liked to play "dead" stumbled near his suburban Richmond home Monday and suffered a fatal brain injury as a stick passed through his eye and pierced his brain.

Daniel Brown died in hospital several hours after he was found bleeding in a field near his home.



HON. H. H. STEVENS . . . walks again

The boy, only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Brown, had been playing with a five-year-old companion, Colleen Lamb. When Mrs. Lamb saw her daughter playing alone, she asked where Daniel was.

"She said he was playing dead," said Mrs. Lamb.

STROLL RESUMED

VANCOUVER—The Honorable H. H. Stevens, who missed his annual walk around Stanley Park last year for the first time in 26 years, because of illness is planning a comeback Thursday, his 82nd birthday.

One thing has changed. Instead of taking 90 minutes for the seven-mile walk. This time he's figuring on two hours.

4 HELD IN BURGLARIES

VERNON—RCMP arrested four persons Monday in connection with a series of burglaries in Vernon and Armstrong during the weekend. Three men were picked up in Armstrong and one in Vernon.

The arrests followed break-ins and theft of a large sum of money from the Imperial Oil Company bulk plant here. A tanker truck was used to batter down the gates. The truck later was found wrecked.

TEACHER PAY STANDS

KAMLOOPS — "Hold-the-line" recommendations have been made by two arbitration boards on teacher salary disputes in this area. They are the first two arbitration awards in the teacher salary disputes in B.C.

Arbitration boards in Kamloops and the adjacent Barriere school district recommended that 1961 contracts be the same as those of 1960.

Cadboro Bay Breakwater Studied by Chamber Group

A proposal that a breakwater be built across the mouth of Cadboro Bay, to provide a year-round shelter from storms for all types of vessels, will be the subject of a continuing study by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce harbor and transport group.

The suggestion was placed before a meeting of the group Monday noon by Tom Denny who said he envisioned a stone breakwater which would go across the middle of the bay and be left open at both ends for boat passage and to avoid any foreshore complications. Mr. Denny saw considerable commercial benefits from the breakwater as well as the provision of a haven for craft caught out in a southeast gale.

It would enhance the proposed Saanich waterfront park area and could lead to the building of a marina in Cadboro Bay which would attract more pleasure craft to the area for winter anchorage. Mr. Denny stressed that the protected water should not be allowed to become a boom storage area but could be used as a transient shelter spot.

One objection raised at the meeting was that a breakwater might interfere with yacht club operations. But it was pointed out that there would be plenty of room inside for racing small craft and that the breakwater being low there would be no interference with the wind. Larger craft could sail through the breakwater entrances for racing.

The meeting agreed that the proposal should be studied and, initially, inquiries should be made as to what surveys and plans might already have been undertaken by either provincial or federal governments on a similar project.

The group also endorsed a suggestion from the B.C. Electric Company that consideration should also be given to construction of a breakwater at Port Renfrew, since it was a development that would benefit all of southern Vancouver Island. It was pointed out that a protected anchorage was badly needed at that point for the fishing fleet and the boats of the Noranda mining operations.

The group agreed to make inquiries regarding a Port Renfrew breakwater as well as the prospect of a public highway to the port.

A motion was passed by the group that the chamber's board of directors should press for improvement of traffic capacity of the Pat Bay Highway to the equivalent of four lanes. It was felt that since the harbor and transport group had sparked the action which led to the provincial ferry service being started, it should follow up on the matter of an improved highway.

'CHILDREN OF INDIA'

'Shantas' Look to You

Will you save a place at your Christmas table for nine-year-old Shanta?

Until she stepped over the welcoming threshold of a Unitarian Service Committee home in India a few weeks ago, she was leading her blind father in the streets to beg.

She had never seen a comb, or had a soothing bath to heal the scabies which covered her body.

Never once had she eaten enough at one time to forget the pangs of hunger.

But today she's a good-looking and slightly giggly girl—like most her age—and would be an asset to any group.

There are thousands like Shanta was before she received USC help. These are the children you are asked to sit, at least theoretically, at your table this Christmas.

This can be done by practical contributions to the Times-sponsored Children of India Fund.

There is not much time left to make this warm-hearted gesture in time for Christmas.

And it will be a gesture that lasts the year round.

Contributions by cheque or cash can be sent or brought to the Times offices at either 1215 Broad Street or 2631 Douglas Street. Such contributions come off income tax.

BOYCOTT BREAKS

Segregation Mob Taunts Alta. Woman

NEW ORLEANS (CP)—An assistant professor of English from the University of Alberta was taunted by women boycotting an integrated school here today.

The trouble broke out when Brigitta Steene, a native of Sweden, arrived at William Frantz School.

When questioned by women demonstrators, she was reported to have said she saw nothing wrong with interracial marriages.

"We'll get you a Nigger to marry," one woman yelled.

Police escorted Miss Steene from the demonstrators.

One threw a hard-boiled egg at her and hit a reporter on the back.

Miss Steene was quoted as saying she had gone to see the integration boycott out of curiosity.

Meanwhile 23 white children went to classes in integrated William Frantz School, spared the worst of the usual jeers from pickets because police cleared a one-block area around the building.

While the gap in the segregation boycott widened, New Orleans legislators prepared to ask the Orleans parish county school board to resign, the New Orleans States-Item reported.

TWO NEGROES ELECTED

TORONTO (CP)—Leonard A. Brathwaite, first Negro ever to run for election in suburban Etobicoke, won a seat on the township's board of education Monday with a big majority over the nearest contender. Mr. Brathwaite, 38, is a lawyer.

In Windsor, Dr. Roy Perry, a Negro dentist defeated in the 1958 mayoralty race after serving seven years as an alderman and two years on the board of control, was returned as an alderman. (See also Page 19.)

776 Demand Mayor Mabel's Resignation

Petition Received In Stony Silence

ALBERNI. — Mayor Mabel Anderson Monday was asked to resign in a petition containing signatures of 776 ratepayers.

The document was received and filed.

It was a copy of a petition addressed to Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black, circulated by the Alberni Voters' Association.

If the mayor doesn't resign, the petition asks the provincial government to investigate the city's affairs.

NO COMMENT

Council refrained from comment and Mayor Anderson herself remained silent.

The document said "extreme concern" was felt by a "significant number" of Alberni citizens over the way the mayor conducts civic affairs.

"We request that you ask Mayor Anderson to resign," it read, "since any effort on our part to get public recognition of this public expression would be useless."

"INCOMPETENT"

It said the mayor had ignored several similar requests.

"In many peoples' opinion the mayor is incompetent and it is on this basis we feel she should be asked to resign.

"In the event that this does not appear possible to yourself, we think that such a situation indicates a very definite need of an inquiry into our city's proceedings and ask that you take proper action."

An audience of 15 persons, mostly from the voters' association, attended the councli meeting.

COUNCILLOR OPPOSED

Reduced Budget Urged by Reeve

MAPLE BAY—Reduced spending in 1961 to preserve the present low mill rate was urged here Monday in a policy speech by Reeve Donald Morton.

Retaining the present 10 mill rate would encourage more heavy industry to the municipality, he told the annual meeting of Maple Bay ratepayers.

Coun. Tony Staples of Maple Bay who is seeking re-election, disagreed.

He said an increase of one

SUPPORTS REEVE

David Barr, candidate for council, declared full support of the reeve and his policy of careful spending.

He also asked that some geographical representation of council members be kept in mind in such a big municipality. With 79 square miles it is necessary, he said, to have a councillor in the south end.

NO JUSTIFICATION

Mr. Barr also came out strongly in support of school boards in their efforts to stem the rising tide of teachers' wages. He could see no justification for this when other items of expense were being lowered.

Officers elected for 1961 to serve the Maple Bay community were: J. F. Lequesne, president; R. Swailes, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. C. J. Wilson, Hubert Hanson and George Watson, directors.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.
